Counter-Coup Ousts General In Dominican

Echavarria Arrested By Own Troops

Lawyer-Professor Takes Presidency; Capital Celebrates

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — A swift countercoup led by his own officers ousted strongman Gen. Pedro Rodriguez Echavarria Thursday night and restored constitutional civilian government to the Dominican Republic.

The sudden end of two days of military-dominated junta rule touched off one of this city's wildest celebrations.

Rafael Bonnelly, 57, lawyer and professor, was sworn in as president almost exactly 48 hours after he and three other members of the all-civilian State Council were led out of the National Palace as prisoners of would-be military dictator Rodriguez Echavarria and a civilian-military junta installed in their place.

Six of the seven members of the State Council—most of them long-time opponents of the Trujillo dictatorship — emerged from incarceration or embassy refuge and resumed control of the government they first took up on Jan. 1.

The State Council's first act after returning to the National Palace was to accept the rsignation of Joaquin Balaguer, a Trujillo holdover who was president until the junta deposed the seven-man council Tuesday night.

That cleared the way for Bonnelly to step up to the presidency in accordance with an agreement last month between Balaguer and the leading anti-Trujillo faction, the National Civic Union.

Young businessman Donald Read was named to fill Balaguer's council seat.

Airing Slated On Complaint In Sunnyside

Area Road Official Will Attend Session At City Hall Jan. 30

William McKenna, head of the Division 11 State Highway Department office in New Philadelphia, has agreed to come to East Liverpool for a public meeting Tuesday, Jan. 30, at 1 p.m. on complaints from Sunnyside residents that access to their district has been hampered by the construction of the West End - California Hollow Freeway, Mayor Bert H. Goodballet said today.

The mayor said McKenna will be given a general briefing on complaints from the Sunnyside area residents. In addition to asserting their access has been hampered, the residents have complained that street lighting in the area has been reduced greatly and slag sidewalks laid in the construction area are inadequate.

A big delegation of Sunnyside area residents complained to Council Monday night, also presenting a petition requesting that the state construct an overpass or an underpass to give access to both vehicles and pedestrians across a deadend section of W. 9th St.

Since a deadend was set up on W. 9th St. at the point where former Chestnut St. intersected, travel in and out of the residential area has been hampered greatly, they complained. The group also expressed dissatisfaction with a steep, curving ramp built as part of the freeway project to furnish new access to the west end of W. 9th St.

Safety-Service Director Robert Owen and the Council street committee, comprised of Kenneth Berg, S. James Welch and Floyd Murray, conferred with a Sunny-

Bell Refuses To Issue Pay To GOP Staff

LISBON — Auditor Kenneth Bell said Thursday that the three Republican employes of the Courthouse, Mrs. Esther Turk, Mrs. Alma Huffman and Mrs. Esther DeTemple, will not be paid despite the fact commissioners retitled their positions Jan. 4.

Bell claims that they have not been certified by the State Department of Personnel and that while the title of the positions have been changed, all are back doing the same work — photostat operator, switchboard operator and dog license clerk, respectively.

Two appeals in the job dispute are before the State Supreme Court. One was heard Tuesday in the county commissioners appeal from the 7th District Court ruling ordering the commissioners to return four Democratic employes they fired Feb. 1, 1961, when four Republicans were employed.

Prosecutor G. William Brokaw is scheduled to return to Columbus Wednesday to appear before the Supreme Court in the other case, seeking to force State Personnel Director James T. Welch to approve the payroll of Mrs. Edna Helman, now deceased, who was one of the Republican employes hired at the change in administration. This case was postponed after the untimely death of Mrs. Helman and the prosecutor had to check to see if the administrator of her estate could appear in her behalf.

A Supreme Court decision in either case would make the jobs final for one side or the other, Prosecutor Brokaw said.

Woman's Yells Halt Purse Snatch Attempt

Two young would-be purse snatchers were frightened away by a woman's calls for help when they attempted to steal her pocketbook Thursday night about 7 as she walked on W. 6th St., police said.

Mrs. Jean Tuttle of Salineville R. D. 3 told police she was walking east on W. 6th near the Osteopathic Hospital when two boys approaching from the opposite direction attempted to grab her purse.

But the two fled empty-handed when she struggled and shouted for help, Mrs. Tuttle told officers. The boys fled west on W. 6th St.

U.S. Backs New Rule In Dominican

Full Diplomatic, Economic Support Was 'Ready-Made'

WASHINGTON (AP) —Officials said today the government newly returned to power in the Dominican Republic has ready-made U.S. recognition and will get full diplomatic and economic support from this country.

Work was resumed at the State Department and in the Agency for International Development on an aid program designed to bolster the Dominican economy.

Plans were made to clear away the last barriers to resumption of normal trade by wiping out finally the sanctions once imposed against the regime of the late dictator Rafael L. Trujillo.

Administration officials were obviously delighted at the speed with which the junta dominated by Gen. Pedro Rodriguez Echavarria was overthrown Thursday night. The development came with stunning suddenness 48 hours after the Dominican air force chief's hand-picked group had taken power upon the resignation Tuesday night of President Joaquin Balaguer.

"We consider that what has occurred now is a resumption of constitutional government in the Dominican Republic," one official said.

In the State Department, the decision was to "forget about the two days they were out of power" and simply continue with the recognition previously accorded. That means a renewal of normal diplomatic relations whereas the department had threatened to deny recognition—a stronger gesture than breaking of diplomatic ties—if Echavarria established a military dictatorship.

The would-be strong man was overthrown, officials said, because he clearly had no base of popular support, had little if any strong backing among the military leaders and even lacked effective support among the country's top political leaders.

Rafael Bonnelly, the new president named to succeed Balaguer, is leader of the National Civic Union, a political organization regarded by U.S. officials as the main hope for development of democracy in the nation which suffered for 30 years under Trujillo dictatorship.

As former vice president under Balaguer, Bonnelly succeeds nor-

Company Gift To Aid City In Blacktop Cost

A Youngstown contractor, paid $10,000 for razing the old Ceramic Theater building and leveling the site has promised to turn back $333 from the final payment to help the city pay the cost of blacktopping the lot in preparation for use in parking, Safety—Service Director Robert Owen said today.

The gift was offered the city by Tony Malagisi, proprietor of the M. & S. Wrecking Co., which has completed the job on the towering old structure after about two months' work.

Malagisi's contract with the city called for his fee to be paid in three equal installments of $3,333 as the work moved through various phases. He already has been paid the first two installments and the third will be turned over to him within a few days, Owen explained.

Malagisi asked that the final payment be made in two checks—one for $3,000 and the other for $333, Owen explained. The con-

Showdown Seen In Congo Crisis

BULLETIN

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (AP) — Fresh bloodshed in the eastern Congo, again involving Congolese troops, was disclosed by the United Nations today. A spokesman said four civilians were killed and seven European churchmen threatened by hoodlums Wednesday in a brawl at a Roman Catholic mission school in Bagira, Kivu Province.

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—An aerial reconnaissance mission raised speculation today that Congolese soldiers responsible for the massacre of white missionaries at Kongolo are heading back to Stanleyville and a possible showdown with U.N. and central government troops.

U.N. headquarters announced it has offered the Congolese government every possible assistance in finding the rampaging troops who slaughtered and dismembered 19 white Roman Catholic priests and an unknown number of African civilians in the North Katanga town on New Year's Day.

An Indian pilot who scouted Kongolo reported he found no significant concentrations or movements of troops and that the town's port facilities on the Lualaba River were deserted.

But the air mission revealed a large body of Congolese troops near the Kivu Province town of Kindu, 175 miles north of Kongolo on the Lualaba, where the Congolese soldiers butchered 13 Italian U.N. airmen in November before moving into North Katanga.

There was speculation that the rampaging troops, once loyal to deposed Deputy Premier Antoine Gizenga, were trying to get back to Gizenga's old stronghold of Stanleyville, another 250 miles up the river in Oriental Province.

Gizenga is a virtual prisoner of central government forces in Stanleyville. Should the Kongolo soldiers reach Stanleyville, they would run into the troops loyal to the central government and Ethiopian U.N. troops.

However, the Leopoldville regime and the U.N. command appeared as helpless to bring the guilty to account as they were after the Kindu slaughter.

There were no further reports from Kongolo to indicate what had happened to local residents there. Msgr. Gustave J. Bouve, the Roman Catholic bishop of Kongolo, said 10 additional missionaries and six nuns assigned to Lubunda, Sola and Makotano in the Kongolo area are still unaccounted for. All are Belgians.

Group Told Of Plans

Next Link Of River-Lake Road To Start At Freeway

The next construction step in the Lake Erie-Ohio River Highway in this area will be a nine-mile section extending north from the present freeway project, starting in 1963, Everett Preston, Ohio highway director, said Thursday.

At a dinner meeting of the Highway Association at Warren, attended by some 150 area members and officials, Preston said the completion of the road is at least eight years away, however.

He said about 11 miles of the planned north - south highway is completed, and 11 more miles are under construction.

But because the highway is not a part of the federal interstate highway program, funds from that program are not available for the construction, and the state will have to finance the project largely on its own.

Preston advised officials to urge their congressman and other officials at Washington to study the importance of the highway to the state and nation and to seek aid in the project.

Attending the event were Atty. Francis Lang, past president of the four - county association; Dr. Myer Alpern, Richard Emmerling, William Cooper, Fred Andreatta, George Bloomgren, E. R. Chandler, State Rep. Clarence Wetzel, County Commissioner Galen Greenisen and County Engineer Charles Snyder, along with others from the county.

William McKenna, Highway Division 11 deputy director, said today in further explanation of plans for the highway that the 9-mile project Preston describes will not be undertaken in one contract.

He said this project actually is divided into three sections — the first extending from the present Freeway project north past the junction with Route 170 to the Substation area.

The second section will extend north to either the intersection with Route 267 at Apples Corners or to Rock Camp, and will include a major intersection with Route 7.

The third section would extend to West Point, McKenna said.

The deputy said that the working plans for the first section are about 65 per cent complete, and negotiations for acquiring property in the right-of-way have been under way with about half of the 70 some parcels involved purchased.

McKenna said plans call for award of contracts for this first section sometime in fiscal year 1963, which will begin July 1962,

President, U Thant To Meet Today

Kennedy Expected To Reassure U.S. Confidence In UN

NEW YORK (AP) — President Kennedy gets acquainted with Acting Secretary-General U Thant today at a luncheon designed to demonstrate the confidence the U.S. government has in the United Nations.

Kennedy and Thant were expected to range over most of the major issues facing the United Nations, including the Congo, world economic development and financing for the nearly bankrupt world organization.

U.S. sources have pointed out that the meeting was arranged several weeks before the Dutch-Indonesian dispute over West New Guinea took a crucial turn, but the two leaders were expected to take a close look at that crisis also.

Stevenson was host at a similar luncheon for Kennedy and Hammarskjold last April when the Laotian crisis was worsening.

Kennedy at his news conference Monday endorsed Thant's efforts to stave off war over West New Guinea and called on the Dutch and the Indonesians to cooperate with the U.N. leader in his peacemaking efforts.

Informed sources said one purpose of the meeting was to demonstrate the Kennedy administration's support for the world body just when Congress is investigating U.S. support for U.N. intervention in the Congo.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk told the congressional inquiry on Thursday that U.N. intervention blocked a Soviet "takeover" scheme in the chaotic Congo and headed off a Soviet-U.S. clash in the heart of Africa.

The administration was also said to feel an open show of confidence was vital at this time to help the White House get congressional authority for U.S. purchase of up to half the $200 million bond issue the U.N. will soon float to help pay the costs of its Congo operation.

Snow Storm Expected To Move Into City

Snow, expected to reach from 4 to 6 inches, has begun falling in southern and west-central sections of the state and is expected to sweep across the entire state by afternoon.

The Weather Bureau at Columbus reported snow falling in Cincinnati, Dayton, Columbus, Chesapeak and Findlay at 10 a.m.

Expected to hit Ohio earlier the snow storm bogged down Thursday night in Indiana.

The snow is expected to taper off to flurries by Saturday but skies will remain cloudy and colder weather is expected.

$9,000 Loss Estimated In Irondale Fire

Former Lodge Hall Receives Extensive Damage In Interior

Damage was estimated at $9,000 today in a fire which gutted the interior of an old Irondale landmark early Thursday afternoon.

The blaze, which destroyed the former home of IOOF Lodge 533, "got a whale of a good start" because the alarm was inadvertently phoned to an auto agency in Wellsville, then to Wellsville firemen, and finally relayed to Irondale firemen.

The interior of the 65-year-old, two-story frame structure at the village's main intersection was completely gutted, Chief Oliver Nicholson said.

The upstairs was the home of IOOF Lodge 533 until it merged with the East Liverpool Lodge two weeks ago, while the downstairs was used for storage by Paisley Bros. Grocery.

Chief Nicholson estimated $6,000 damage to the lodge - owned building, and $3,000 to the contents, which included used appliances, roofing paper and metal spouting.

The cause was blamed on an overheated coal furnace in the basement of the long, narrow structure.

The blaze broke out shortly before 1 p. m. while Albert Ferry and William H. Lutton, lodge members, were in the second story dismanteling a pool table.

Ferry said they smelled smoke coming from a heating register and noticed an electric light in the room was flickering. Lutton went to check the furnace but could not get near it because of

Extortion Try Holds Man For Grand Jury

John D. Carter, 34, of Wellsville pleaded guilty to a charge of attempted extortion of money from Donald Brewer at a hearing Thursday afternoon before County Judge James L. MacDonald at Lisbon and was bound over to the April Grand Jury under $1,000 bond.

Police Chief John Hephner of Wellsville filed the charge after he said Carter admitted that he had threatened to implicate several persons in the theft of sewer pipe from the Peerless Clay Co. at Empire. He was placed on probation in Jefferson County after arrest by the chief last July while driving a truck with the stolen pipe on Route 7 south of Wellsville.

Carter was returned to the County Jail, where a detainer was placed on him by the Jefferson County probation officer. Carter had sent an unsigned extortion letter to Brewer, Wellsville businessman, who turned it over to the chief. It was traced to the defendant, police said.

A 19-year-old pottery employe was killed this morning when his car struck a utility pole in the 700 block of St. Clair Ave. after his brakes apparently failed as he descended the steep grade, police reported.

Frank Benjamin Miller Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Miller, 3231 St. Clair Ave., was pronounced dead on arrival at City Hospital of a crushed chest and a possible fractured neck.

Officers said he was on his way to work at the Homer Laughlin China Co. about 6:12 a.m. when the 1956 sedan splintered the utility pole on St. Clair Ave. about 150 feet south of Burton Alley.

The youth was the second traffic victim in Columbiana County in 1962 and the first in East Liverpool since a young driver was killed in a Dresden Ave. crash Feb. 17, 1961. None had been killed in county traffic at this time in 1961.

Although the mishap still is under investigation, officers said several factors indicated the brakes failed on young Miller's auto and that he made frantic efforts to slow it or stop it before the crash.

Investigation showed the brakes were completely ineffective after the crash, as the pedal went entirely to the floor without acting, police said. For 60 feet be-

Coal Pipeline Hearing Stirs Up Much Heat

CHARLESTON (AP) — Supporters and opponents of a plan to pipe coal — West Virginia's principal resource — to East Coast utility furnaces stirred up much heat of a non-usable kind at the State Capitol last night.

The proposition to pump finely ground coal in water out of the state was alternately termed "a pig-in-a-poke proposal" and "the most significant breakthrough since coal was first used as a fuel," in a public hearing before the Senate and House judiciary committees.

Big coal operators, anticipating retaining and expanding markets, strongly backed the plan. Railroads, fearing decreased coal-carrying opportunities, fought for at least a delay in approving the plan.

Small coal operators seemed split. Some saw it as progress and expanded opportunity; others, as a move favoring only the large-resource coal mine companies.

Labor was similiarly split. A United Mine Workers representative saw increased production and job opportunities. A rail brotherhood representative saw depression and job loss.

Legislators, asked by Gov. W. W. Barron to clear the way for construction of the coal "slurry" pipeline, either stuck by previous stands — dictated largely by their constituencies—or remained quiet.

A closed hearing was scheduled by the House Judiciary Committee today and the proposals may be on the House floor next week.

Group Told Of Plans

Next Link Of River-Lake Road To Start At Freeway

The next construction step in the Lake Erie-Ohio River Highway in this area will be a nine-mile section extending north from the present freeway project, starting in 1963, Everett Preston, Ohio highway director, said Thursday.

At a dinner meeting of the Highway Association at Warren, attended by some 150 area members and officials, Preston said the completion of the road is at least eight years away, however.

He said about 11 miles of the planned north - south highway is completed, and 11 more miles are under construction.

But because the highway is not a part of the federal interstate highway program, funds from that program are not available for the construction, and the state will have to finance the project largely on its own.

Preston advised officials to urge their congressman and other officials at Washington to study the importance of the highway to the state and nation and to seek aid in the project.

Attending the event were Atty. Francis Lang, past president of the four - county association; Dr. Myer Alpern, Richard Emmerling, William Cooper, Fred Andreatta, George Bloomgren, E. R. Chandler, State Rep. Clarence Wetzel, County Commissioner Galen Greenisen and County Engineer Charles Snyder, along with others from the county.

William McKenna, Highway Division 11 deputy director, said today in further explanation of plans for the highway that the 9-mile project Preston describes will not be undertaken in one contract.

He said this project actually is divided into three sections — the first extending from the present Freeway project north past the junction with Route 170 to the Substation area.

The second section will extend north to either the intersection with Route 267 at Apples Corners or to Rock Camp, and will include a major intersection with Route 7.

McKenna said plans call for award of contracts for this first section sometime in fiscal year 1963, which will begin July 1962.

President, U Thant To Meet Today

Kennedy Expected To Reassure U.S. Confidence In UN

NEW YORK (AP) — President Kennedy gets acquainted with Acting Secretary-General U Thant today at a luncheon designed to demonstrate the confidence the U.S. government has in the United Nations.

Kennedy and Thant were expected to range over most of the major issues facing the United Nations, including the Congo, world economic development and financing for the nearly bankrupt world organization.

U.S. sources have pointed out that the meeting was arranged several weeks before the Dutch-Indonesian dispute over West New Guinea took a crucial turn, but the two leaders were expected to take a close look at that crisis also.

Stevenson was host at a similar luncheon for Kennedy and Hammarskjold last April when the Laotian crisis was worsening.

Kennedy at his news conference Monday endorsed Thant's efforts to stave off war over West New Guinea and called on the Dutch and the Indonesians to cooperate with the U.N. leader in his peacemaking efforts.

Informed sources said one purpose of the meeting was to demonstrate the Kennedy administration's support for the world body just when Congress is investigating U.S. support for U.N. intervention in the Congo.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk told the congressional inquiry on Thursday that U.N. intervention blocked a Soviet "takeover" scheme in the chaotic Congo and headed off a Soviet-U.S. clash in the heart of Africa.

The administration was also said to feel an open show of confidence was vital at this time to help the White House get congressional authority for U.S. purchase of up to half the $200 million bond issue the U.N. will soon float to help pay the costs of its Congo operation.

$9,000 Loss Estimated In Irondale Fire

Former Lodge Hall Receives Extensive Damage In Interior

Damage was estimated at $9,000 today in a fire which gutted the interior of an old Irondale landmark early Thursday afternoon.

The blaze, which destroyed the former home of IOOF Lodge 533, "got a whale of a good start" because the alarm was inadvertently phoned to an auto agency in Wellsville, then to Wellsville firemen, and finally relayed to Irondale firemen.

The interior of the 65-year-old, two-story frame structure at the village's main intersection was completely gutted, Chief Oliver Nicholson said.

The upstairs was the home of IOOF Lodge 533 until it merged with the East Liverpool Lodge two weeks ago, while the downstairs was used for storage by Paisley Bros. Grocery.

Chief Nicholson estimated $6,000 damage to the lodge - owned building, and $3,000 to the contents, which included used appliances, roofing paper and metal spouting.

The cause was blamed on an overheated coal furnace in the basement of the long, narrow structure.

The blaze broke out shortly before 1 p. m. while Albert Ferry and William H. Lutton, lodge members, were in the second story dismanteling a pool table.

Ferry said they smelled smoke coming from a heating register and noticed an electric light in the room was flickering. Lutton went to check the furnace but could not get near it because of

Extortion Try Holds Man For Grand Jury

John D. Carter, 34, of Wellsville pleaded guilty to a charge of attempted extortion of money from Donald Brewer at a hearing Thursday afternoon before County Judge James L. MacDonald at Lisbon and was bound over to the April Grand Jury under $1,000 bond.

Police Chief John Hephner of Wellsville filed the charge after he said Carter admitted that he had threatened to implicate several persons in the theft of sewer pipe from the Peerless Clay Co. at Empire. He was placed on probation in Jefferson County after arrest by the chief last July while driving a truck with the stolen pipe on Route 7 south of Wellsville.

Carter was returned to the County Jail, where a detainer was placed on him by the Jefferson County probation officer. Carter had sent an unsigned extortion letter to Brewer, Wellsville businessman, who turned it over to the chief. It was traced to the defendant, police said.

Driver Tries To Halt As Brakes Fail

F. B. Miller Jr., 19, Dies In Accident On Way To Pottery Job

County's 1962 Traffic Toll

DRIVE TO STAY ALIVE

A 19-year-old pottery employe was killed this morning when his car struck a utility pole in the 700 block of St. Clair Ave. after his brakes apparently failed as he descended the steep grade, police reported.

Frank Benjamin Miller Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Miller, 3231 St. Clair Ave., was pronounced dead on arrival at City Hospital of a crushed chest and a possible fractured neck.

Officers said he was on his way to work at the Homer Laughlin China Co. about 6:12 a.m. when the 1956 sedan splintered the utility pole on St. Clair Ave. about 150 feet south of Burton Alley.

The youth was the second traffic victim in Columbiana County in 1962 and the first in East Liverpool since a young driver was killed in a Dresden Ave. crash Feb. 17, 1961. None had been killed in county traffic at this time in 1961.

Although the mishap still is under investigation, officers said several factors indicated the brakes failed on young Miller's auto and that he made frantic efforts to slow it or stop it before the crash.

Investigation showed the brakes were completely ineffective after the crash, as the pedal went entirely to the floor without acting, police said. For 60 feet be-

Coal Pipeline Hearing Stirs Up Much Heat

CHARLESTON (AP) — Supporters and opponents of a plan to pipe coal — West Virginia's principal resource — to East Coast utility furnaces stirred up much heat of a non-usable kind at the State Capitol last night.

The proposition to pump finely ground coal in water out of the state was alternately termed "a pig-in-a-poke proposal" and "the most significant breakthrough since coal was first used as a fuel," in a public hearing before the Senate and House judiciary committees.

Big coal operators, anticipating retaining and expanding markets, strongly backed the plan. Railroads, fearing decreased coal-carrying opportunities, fought for at least a delay in approving the plan.

Small coal operators seemed split. Some saw it as progress and expanded opportunity; others, as a move favoring only the large-resource coal mine companies.

Labor was similiarly split. A United Mine Workers representative saw increased production and job opportunities. A rail brotherhood representative saw depression and job loss.

Legislators, asked by Gov. W. W. Barron to clear the way for construction of the coal "slurry" pipeline, either stuck by previous stands — dictated largely by their constituencies—or remained quiet.

A closed hearing was scheduled by the House Judiciary Committee today and the proposals may be on the House floor next week.

Revival Leader Plans Appeal Of Conviction

CINCINNATI (AP)—David Epley, 30, revival leader from Hammond, Ind., says he will appeal his conviction in police court on a charge of soliciting without a license. Judge Daniel Handley fined him $25 and costs Thursday after a detective testified he paid $1 for a vial of fluid allegedly capable of miraculous cures.

State Examiners To Aid Vendors With Tax Report

Sales tax examiners will be stationed in five Columbiana County communities late in January to aid merchants in filing sales tax returns for the last six months of 1961, according to Walter Sweeney of Youngstown, manager of the 6th Sales Tax District.

On Monday, Jan. 29, the examiners will be at Wellsville City Hall and the Keller Hardware Store in Columbiana. They will be stationed at City Hall here Tuesday and Wednesday, Jan. 30-31.

On Jan. 30, an examiner also will be at the Salem City Hall and on Wednesday, Jan. 31, he will be stationed at the Courthouse in Lisbon.

Jan. 31 is the deadline for filing returns for the last six months of 1961. Delinquent filing of a semi-annual return subjects the vendor to payment of a $1-a-day penalty for each day the report is delinquent, Sweeney said.

When filing, merchants should takes a sales tax return Form-2-61, along with a copy of the last previous report and a record of sales and prepaid tax receipts purchased during the report period, Sweeney said.

The fact a businessman may not have held a vendor's license for the full period July 1-Dec. 31 or was not open for business during that period or made no taxable sales does not justify failure to file a return, Sweeney said.

Chief Nicholson said a well-meaning resident sounded the alarm, but dialed a wrong phone number in the excitement and reached the Ideal Chevrolet garage in Wellsville, which has a number similar to that of the Irondale fire department.

The auto agency relayed the message to Wellsville firemen and they responded with a truck and firemen, meanwhile relaying the alarm to the Irondale department.

"The fire had a whale of a start by the time we were finally notified," Chief Nicholson reported. Ten firemen from the village department less than half a mile away answered the call.

The fire was difficult to bring under control, as it had ignited the partitions in the old structure and burned in places hard to wet down, the chief explained.

Water spray from the hoses of firemen formed a coating of ice on branches of small trees and on the side of the building. There was a cover of ice on Little Yellow Creek which runs beside the building.

Firemen said the building owned by the IOOF Lodg is partly covered by insurance. The items lost by the Paisley brothers were insured, firemen added.

There was no announcement on plans to rebuild the structure. Firemen said it partially blocks visibility for motorists at a sharp turn at the main junction of the village.

The street committee has set another trip to the area Saturday at 11:30 a. m. to observe the same conditions in daylight, Owen said.

Owen also said a new deadend sign has been erected at the point where W. 9th St. ends at former Chestnut St. One of the delegation's complaints Monday night was that the deadend was not marked adequately. The first sign was erected at the point where W. 9th and Lisbon Sts. intersect, near the street department barn, to warn motorists before they entered the stretch, Owen explained.

It's the third razing contract that the M. & S. company has held here with the municipality—each clearing the way for a parking lot. A few years ago, when Malagisi razed buildings just west of City Hall to clear the way for a parking lot, he also helped financially with the blacktopping work that followed, Owen said.

His most recent job, prior to the Ceramic contract, was tearing down a brick and frame structure on W. 6th St., opposite City Hall to provide a site that also was converted to a parking lot.

He belonged to the Immaculate Conception Catholic Church and Elks Lodge 1040 of Wellsville, of which he was a past exalted ruler, and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen.

He is survived by a brother, Willard R. Martin at home; a sister, Mrs. Mary E. Johnston of Cleveland, and several nephews and nieces. His wife, Mrs. Anna Maley Martin, died Oct. 2, 1956.

Services will be held Monday at 9:30 a. m. at the church by Fr. Gerald X. Curran. Burial will be in St. Elizabeth Cemetery, in Wellsville.

State Examiners To Aid Vendors With Tax Report

Sales tax examiners will be stationed in five Columbiana County communities late in January to aid merchants in filing sales tax returns for the last six months of 1961, according to Walter Sweeney of Youngstown, manager of the 6th Sales Tax District.

On Monday, Jan. 29, the examiners will be at Wellsville City Hall and the Keller Hardware Store in Columbiana. They will be stationed at City Hall here Tuesday and Wednesday, Jan. 30-31.

On Jan. 30, an examiner also will be at the Salem City Hall and on Wednesday, Jan. 31, he will be stationed at the Courthouse in Lisbon.

Jan. 31 is the deadline for filing returns for the last six months of 1961. Delinquent filing of a semi-annual return subjects the vendor to payment of a $1-a-day penalty for each day the report is delinquent, Sweeney said.

When filing, merchants should takes a sales tax return Form-2-61, along with a copy of the last previous report and a record of sales and prepaid tax receipts purchased during the report period, Sweeney said.

The fact a businessman may not have held a vendor's license for the full period July 1-Dec. 31 or was not open for business during that period or made no taxable sales does not justify failure to file a return, Sweeney said.

Kennedy Wants $93 Billion

The Kennedy administration has put together its first budget.

Every citizen now must carry in his mind the magic number 93 with a "billion dollars" after it. This is what the federal government expects to skim off the nation's gross national product in the 12 months beginning July 1.

State and local government will take about another $60 billion, for a grand total in excess of $150 billion. This is only a rough estimate, but nothing else is possible. The cost of government is guesswork these days and the proposed totals in the Kennedy budget are more guesswork than usual, for this reason:

The budget calls for the country to yield $93 billion in revenues to pay for $92½ billion in spending, leaving a problematic surplus of upward of half a billion, and $93 billion is $492.70 for every American man, woman and child. Will we have that much?

That much money will be forthcoming only if Congress pushes through a raise in postal rates to wipe out a deficit of about $1 billion and resists a strong bipartisan impulse to make President Kennedy and his budget advisers look like pinch-pennies by spending billions more than they asked for.

Most important of all to make so much money flow into the U.S. Treasury would be a rise in the total federal income from this year to next year of about $11 billion with no increase in taxes.

ONLY ONE thing could make this rosy revenue dream materialize. To this date the Kennedy administration hasn't made a move in its favor..

There would need to be a large-scale sustained expansion of business and employment—and this cannot happen as long as the federal government refuses to do its part in stimulating economic growth.

No one in authority ever takes time to read official reports, but the President's Advisory Committee on Labor-Management Policy did say in its first report on problems growing out of automation that government should adopt policies which will promote a high rate of economic growth and fuller utilization of resources. Work cannot be divided up, the committee said. It must be increased.

In other words, if the Kennedy administration intends to balance its first budget it will have to throw out the clammy-handed crowd choking the life out of private enterprise and give private enterprise a chance to hire more people.

THIS IS the only heavily industrialized country in the world whose rate of economic growth is lagging.

The United States is spending billions to stimulate economic growth in Japan, West Germany, Italy, France and England—all enjoying booms. But for its own employers and their employes it cannot do so simple a thing as to modify its tax laws to give private enterprise a breathing spell.

The irony of Mr. Kennedy's budget proposals is this fact: He asks for enormous increases in revenue without acknowledging that his only chance to get them is to make more business and more jobs, hence more wealth.

Federal budgets always loom relatively large. Even at the beginning of the great spending era in 1933, when the government was doing well to take in $2 billion, less than half what it spent, the figures seemed too vast to comprehend.

THINK OF IT like this: If a man had started 300 years before the birth of Christ to throw away $1,000 every hour, 12 hours a day, 365 days a year he wouldn't have got rid of his first billion yet. A billion dollars is about 1-36th as much as the U.S. government spent for World War I. If a business firm had lost $1,000 a day starting in 1 A.D. it could still lose at the same rate for 777 more years before it had lost a billion dollars.

Multiply this by 93 and that's what taxpayers must yield to the federal government alone to be governed, plus another $60 billion to local government.

The figures, themselves, are less important than the relationship between them, because the figures reflect inflation. The key relationship is that the federal government needs $11 billion more than it collected this year to balance its outgo and income.

It's budget will be balanced if—

Otherwise, this being an era of spending, the deficit will be added to the national debt, like this year's deficit.

It would be a punishing price to pay for hostility to free enterprise in Washington. The system can't provide $93 billion with its enemies holding it down to the ground.

Still Dangerous

Another accident has occurred at the Walnut St. railroad crossing, with a woman hospitalized and her husband shaken up when their car was struck by a freight. But for good fortune, both could have been killed.

The city and the Pennsylvania Railroad have conferred on several occasions relative to more protection at the Walnut St. and other crossings here. As Thursday's mishap emphasizes, further conferences appear to be in order.

The new Council, if it has not already done so, should place "Railroad Crossings" on the list of many problems which it faces.

There's no better time than now to jog railroad officials once more on the need for action. As long as the Walnut St. crossing remains in its present status there's always the threat of new fatalities.

Stockpiling Won't Be Stopped

When President Kennedy and other spokesmen for his administration talk about the steel industry in a tone of hopefulness instead of candor, they do themselves and the country no good.

For example, their statements about holding down steel prices and coming to quick and equitable agreements about wages, to take away the reason for stockpiling, sound suspiciously like some of the plaintive statements we used to get from Washington about please don't hoard soap and so on and so on and so on. So we hoarded soap anyway.

The steel industry's situation calls for candor.

The steel union has no intention of letting the industry stabilize its costs of production. It will squeeze the industry for everything it can get out of it and has served notice it intends to do just this by going along with organized labor's hard-nosed attitude that inflation is none of its business.

Steel management has no intention of letting itself get stuck with a price structure it considers unrealistic. It would have raised prices last year if it had not been so busy doing competitive selling it was taking whatever price it could get. It would be raising prices this year in the face of expanded demand if it weren't afraid of compounding the bite it expects to get from the union later on.

As for steel stockpilers, if they didn't buy steel now instead of waiting for the price to go up they should be charged with misfeasance by their stockholders. No matter how quickly steel management and labor get together on a new contract this year, the price of steel will go up, barring a collapse of the general price structure.

It would be just as well and a little better for all concerned if the White House quit being hopeful about the impossible and became candid about the inevitable.

Extra Care Needed

When the weather becomes exceptionally cold, a rash of fires generally follows in its wake.

Among the latest casualties were a home near Highlandtown and a structure at Irondale. And other blazes have preceded these.

There's no great mystery as to the reason. When the weather is biting cold, more heat is needed to keep warm. The greater the volume of heat in some types of equipment, the greater the danger of fire.

Once more it's time for extra precautions. Lives could be lost in the next blaze.

Instead of promoting peace it is getting into war with U.S. Congress over whether it's up to Uncle Sam to buy most of the bonds needed to keep going.

U.N. was organized to promote better understandings, but can't get members to understand they should pay dues and assessments.

Bond issue is like selling shares in a corporation to make life easier for people who won't pay what they owe. It is only club on earth in which members can wreck institution and leave the bill to somebody else. Day in and day out it presents a spectacle of orators tearing up "Please remit" letters while lecturing everybody on peace at any cost.

Dedicated to keping peace, U.N. is in fight over question that has caused man-to-man scraps through recorded history: "How about paying your share?"

The world's greatest organization for promoting honor, square dealing, high purpose and mutual integrity is full of members who would be bounced from any club on earth for not paying dues, assessments (and possibly cocktail bills).

Organizaton opened another year in atmosphere in which Uncle Sam wouldn't be surprised if he were sued by rest of membership for non-support. If Congress won't let him buy half the $200 million bond issue, he could be charged also with infidelity, intolerable cruelty, desertion and incompatability. (He would be lucky if some nations didn't ask alimony.)

Tough Talks Held On Steel Issues

By Victor Riesel

PITTSBURGH

These men of steel have nerves of steel in this town with a halo of belching mill smoke. They heard the President of the United States tell them publicly he wants no strike this summer of the mile-long plants which whip out the inner metals of rockets and cars and tanks and atomic ships. This is not new. They have been told this privately in several secret sessions — mostly in Washington.

Victor Riesel

Everybody is gambling. The union. The industry. The President himself. The President and his labor secretary have put their home front prestige on the line.

If a strike comes, the avalanche rolls. If the union works itself into a mass national strike, it breaks with the best friends it has ever had in the White House. And right at election time.

If the industry is hit because it holds out, the wrath of the White House will hit it, too. And the government is the industry's biggest customer.

Somewhere right in the muddy middle are the 500,000 steelworkers who just don't want to go payless again for months.

To head this off, Arthur Goldberg has been talking very privately with leaders of both sides. No negotiations could be more sensitive. Never has this been tried before.

Mr. Goldberg has met for hours with Conrad Cooper, executive vice president, personnel services, U. S. Steel Corp. This has been as hush-hush as a CIA inner-computer room. Very few know what the feedback has been. Nor what was said. They met, probably in Washington, the word here is.

SOURCES here know of at least one such meeting as early as last December. Goldberg is alleged to have said the President, the nation, everyone involved, wants a non-crisis settlement in March or April.

There have been, according to the same sources in the Golden Triangle area here, similar secret meetings with United Steelworkers of America President David McDonald and his advisers.

The word from the White House has been a warning that tough demands from the union will bring swift toughness from John Kennedy. The reports indicate he would not permit the strike to roll for weeks before he instructed Attorney General Robert Kennedy to go into court for an injunction ordering the men back to work immediately.

There have been other sessions without a White House spokesman or admonition. Some of these meetings have been held at Pittsburgh—meetings of the Joint Human Relations Research Committee. It has two heads — handsome ones, too — Dave McDonald and Conrad Cooper.

IN EFFECT, Mr. Cooper talks for the entire steel industry —at least the 12 major companies. While they talk, their subcommittees search and search for areas of agreement.

These are the subgroups on seniority rights, medical benefits, job classification and pay, incentive pay and grievance procedure.

If there is common ground found by these smaller committees, they'll return to McDonald and Cooper and say it can be done. That is, if there is no union push for a 32-hour week and higher pay — higher than some 2½ per cent over the old wages.

But as one drives through the smaller steel towns intertwining each other's grimy streets from here deep into Ohio, the feeling is that the lines for this play are being written by a Greek tragedian. There's a vicious cycle.

There have been five major steel strikes since the war's end. No one will take for granted here that industrial peace will come this spring.

On all sides of the road, you see and smell the acrid evidence of this disbelief. The mills are jumping. The experts say they go round the clock, producing at the rate of 140 per cent above 1957-59. That's a lot of steel.

No steel customers want to take any chance on being caught short without the tonnage in their factories and open yards or any place you can put an ingot, bar or sheet. So the orders pile in.

THEY'RE COMING in at the rate of some 65 million tons for the first half of this year. This means 130 million tons for the full year if production continues at this rate. But it won't. It can't. Even during the war annual steel production was less than 90 million tons.

The average from 1940 to 1960 was 95 million tons a year. These are the figures the President has had before him.

What is clear is that if heavy tonnage of steel is produced in the first six months out of fear of a strike, there will be no need for production of even half as much in the last six months.

This country can't use 130 million tons. That means there will be heavy layoffs if there is no strike.

As you wander through these steel towns and talk to the mill hands you understand better why there must be some more mature way of settling these chronic crises.

'New' On The Frontier

By David Lawrence

'Hypocrisy' Added To List At Washington

David Lawrence

Webster's New World Dictionary defines a demagogue as "a person who tries to stir up the people by appeals to emotion prejudice, etc., in order to become a leader and achieve selfish ends."

Officials of the Kennedy administration from the President down, as well as some members of Congress, have launched a crusade to cause social clubs in Washington to admit Negroes as members. Although these clubs are private institutions--like a private home—high offficials of the Kennedy administration have used their power of publicity to denounce those clubs which for years have selected their members without regard to outside pressures. The purpose, of course, is to win votes not only in this area but in all the Northern states of the Union.

President Kennedy told his press conference that his application for membership to a local club, which had been recently withdrawn, would not be resubmitted. It had been sponsored by Professor Galbraith, U.S. ambassador to India, who resigned from the club when it turned down the application of a Negro for membership. No information has been made available as to whether the club did or did not reject the application on racial grounds or whether it was done because of some failure of the applicant to meet all requirements for membership. Various white applicants also have not been admitted.

A more drastic step has been taken by Rep. Herbert Zelenko, D- NY, who has just introduced in Congress a bill that would prohibit the District of Columbia from issuing food and beverage licenses or occupancy permits to any club that practices racial or religious discrimination in the admission of members. Who is to find out why an admissions committee declines to elect an applicant?

WHAT OF CLUBS in other cities? This is supposed to be a state and municipal matter but the federal government these days is not dismayed by such barriers. Mr. Kennedy in his State of the Union Message boasted that his administration "has shown as never before how much could be done through the full use of executive powers."

Thus, any business which wants to retain or get a contract with the government can be threatened with withdrawal or denial of such contract unless its employment policies and purchasing practices conform to the interpretation of civil rights laid down by the executive branch of the government.

This very procedure not only is being used with government contractors but reaches down into subcontracts. Business is not allotted to subcontractors unless they, too, will agree to conform to the obligations of the contractor in his relations with the federal government on matters of discrimination in employment.

Congress has never written a law covering these matters and it's all being done by what the President calls "full use of executive powers."

Likewise, tax exemptions granted to non-profit organizations can presumably be withdrawn at will by the administration if they do not toe the mark—though a few "freedom rides" may be required to force action in this field.

THE PLIGHT of government officials themselves, incidentally, now is an unhappy one. The President said in a statement to his press conference this week about the episode in which a Negro official of the State Department was denied membership in a local club:

"I have said from the beginning that I thought this was a personal matter which involved not only the members of this government, but involves everyone in the city and everyone in the country, and every individual must make his judgment in the way that he believes to be right and I have stated that my application for the Cosmos Club was not being renewed."

Is this a hint that all government officials should follow the lead of the President? His brother, the attorney general, resigned from a club here that declines to admit Negroes. How long can other officials withstand the pressure being exerted? Many of the clubs here have members employed by the government or members who do business with the government.

To the new demagoguery, however, there may have to be added the "new hypocrisy." For there are lots of officials in the Kennedy administration—including President Kennedy and Vice President Johnson — who belong to clubs here and in New York and other parts of the country which practice various forms of racial and religious discrimination.

Will some administration official soon go to the annual meetings of such clubs and demand the passage of resolutions condemning what their admissions committees do when they bar certain applicants? It is just as logical, and it all comes under the head of the new coercion and the new demand for conformity.

Kennedy Wants $93 Billion

The Kennedy administration has put together its first budget.

Every citizen now must carry in his mind the magic number 93 with a "billion dollars" after it. This is what the federal government expects to skim off the nation's gross national product in the 12 months beginning July 1.

State and local government will take about another $60 billion, for a grand total in excess of $150 billion. This is only a rough estimate, but nothing else is possible. The cost of government is guesswork these days and the proposed totals in the Kennedy budget are more guesswork than usual, for this reason:

The budget calls for the country to yield $93 billion in revenues to pay for $92½ billion in spending, leaving a problematic surplus of upward of half a billion, and $93 billion is $492.70 for every American man, woman and child. Will we have that much?

That much money will be forthcoming only if Congress pushes through a raise in postal rates to wipe out a deficit of about $1 billion and resists a strong bipartisan impulse to make President Kennedy and his budget advisers look like pinch-pennies by spending billions more than they asked for.

Most important of all to make so much money flow into the U.S. Treasury would be a rise in the total federal income from this year to next year of about $11 billion with no increase in taxes.

ONLY ONE thing could make this rosy revenue dream materialize. To this date the Kennedy administration hasn't made a move in its favor..

There would need to be a large-scale sustained expansion of business and employment—and this cannot happen as long as the federal government refuses to do its part in stimulating economic growth.

No one in authority ever takes time to read official reports, but the President's Advisory Committee on Labor-Management Policy did say in its first report on problems growing out of automation that government should adopt policies which will promote a high rate of economic growth and fuller utilization of resources. Work cannot be divided up, the committee said. It must be increased.

In other words, if the Kennedy administration intends to balance its first budget it will have to throw out the clammy-handed crowd choking the life out of private enterprise and give private enterprise a chance to hire more people.

THIS IS the only heavily industrialized country in the world whose rate of economic growth is lagging.

The United States is spending billions to stimulate economic growth in Japan, West Germany, Italy, France and England—all enjoying booms. But for its own employers and their employes it cannot do so simple a thing as to modify its tax laws to give private enterprise a breathing spell.

The irony of Mr. Kennedy's budget proposals is this fact: He asks for enormous increases in revenue without acknowledging that his only chance to get them is to make more business and more jobs, hence more wealth.

Federal budgets always loom relatively large. Even at the beginning of the great spending era in 1933, when the government was doing well to take in $2 billion, less than half what it spent, the figures seemed too vast to comprehend.

THINK OF IT like this: If a man had started 300 years before the birth of Christ to throw away $1,000 every hour, 12 hours a day, 365 days a year he wouldn't have got rid of his first billion yet. A billion dollars is about 1-36th as much as the U.S. government spent for World War I. If a business firm had lost $1,000 a day starting in 1 A.D. it could still lose at the same rate for 777 more years before it had lost a billion dollars.

Multiply this by 93 and that's what taxpayers must yield to the federal government alone to be governed, plus another $60 billion to local government.

The figures, themselves, are less important than the relationship between them, because the figures reflect inflation. The key relationship is that the federal government needs $11 billion more than it collected this year to balance its outgo and income.

It's budget will be balanced if—

Otherwise, this being an era of spending, the deficit will be added to the national debt, like this year's deficit.

It would be a punishing price to pay for hostility to free enterprise in Washington. The system can't provide $93 billion with its enemies holding it down to the ground.

Still Dangerous

Another accident has occurred at the Walnut St. railroad crossing, with a woman hospitalized and her husband shaken up when their car was struck by a freight. But for good fortune, both could have been killed.

The city and the Pennsylvania Railroad have conferred on several occasions relative to more protection at the Walnut St. and other crossings here. As Thursday's mishap emphasizes, further conferences appear to be in order.

The new Council, if it has not already done so, should place "Railroad Crossings" on the list of many problems which it faces.

There's no better time than now to jog railroad officials once more on the need for action. As long as the Walnut St. crossing remains in its present status there's always the threat of new fatalities.

Stockpiling Won't Be Stopped

When President Kennedy and other spokesmen for his administration talk about the steel industry in a tone of hopefulness instead of candor, they do themselves and the country no good.

For example, their statements about holding down steel prices and coming to quick and equitable agreements about wages, to take away the reason for stockpiling, sound suspiciously like some of the plaintive statements we used to get from Washington about please don't hoard soap and so on and so on and so on. So we hoarded soap anyway.

The steel industry's situation calls for candor.

The steel union has no intention of letting the industry stabilize its costs of production. It will squeeze the industry for everything it can get out of it and has served notice it intends to do just this by going along with organized labor's hard-nosed attitude that inflation is none of its business.

Steel management has no intention of letting itself get stuck with a price structure it considers unrealistic. It would have raised prices last year if it had not been so busy doing competitive selling it was taking whatever price it could get. It would be raising prices this year in the face of expanded demand if it weren't afraid of compounding the bite it expects to get from the union later on.

As for steel stockpilers, if they didn't buy steel now instead of waiting for the price to go up they should be charged with misfeasance by their stockholders. No matter how quickly steel management and labor get together on a new contract this year, the price of steel will go up, barring a collapse of the general price structure.

It would be just as well and a little better for all concerned if the White House quit being hopeful about the impossible and became candid about the inevitable.

David Lawrence

Webster's New World Dictionary defines a demagogue as "a person who tries to stir up the people by appeals to emotion prejudice, etc., in order to become a leader and achieve selfish ends."

Officials of the Kennedy administration from the President down, as well as some members of Congress, have launched a crusade to cause social clubs in Washington to admit Negroes as members. Although these clubs are private institutions—like a private home—high offficials of the Kennedy administration have used their power of publicity to denounce those clubs which for years have selected their members without regard to outside pressures. The purpose, of course, is to win votes not only in this area but in all the Northern states of the Union.

President Kennedy told his press conference that his application for membership to a local club, which had been recently withdrawn, would not be resubmitted. It had been sponsored by Professor Galbraith, U.S. ambassador to India, who resigned from the club when it turned down the application of a Negro for membership. No information has been made available as to whether the club did or did not reject the application on racial grounds or whether it was done because of some failure of the applicant to meet all requirements for membership. Various white applicants also have not been admitted.

A more drastic step has been taken by Rep. Herbert Zelenko, D- NY, who has just introduced in Congress a bill that would prohibit the District of Columbia from issuing food and beverage licenses or occupancy permits to any club that practices racial or religious discrimination in the admission of members. Who is to find out why an admissions committee declines to elect an applicant?

WHAT OF CLUBS in other cities? This is supposed to be a state and municipal matter but the federal government these days is not dismayed by such barriers. Mr. Kennedy in his State of the Union Message boasted that his administration "has shown as never before how much could be done through the full use of executive powers."

Thus, any business which wants to retain or get a contract with the government can be threatened with withdrawal or denial of such contract unless its employment policies and purchasing practices conform to the interpretation of civil rights laid down by the executive branch of the government.

This very procedure not only is being used with government contractors but reaches down into subcontracts. Business is not allotted to subcontractors unless they, too, will agree to conform to the obligations of the contractor in his relations with the federal government on matters of discrimination in employment.

Congress has never written a law covering these matters and it's all being done by what the President calls "full use of executive powers."

Likewise, tax exemptions granted to non-profit organizations can presumably be withdrawn at will by the administration if they do not toe the mark—though a few "freedom rides" may be required to force action in this field.

THE PLIGHT of government officials themselves, incidentally, now is an unhappy one. The President said in a statement to his press conference this week about the episode in which a Negro official of the State Department was denied membership in a local club:

"I have said from the beginning that I thought this was a personal matter which involved not only the members of this government, but involves everyone in the city and everyone in the country, and every individual must make his judgment in the way that he believes to be right and I have stated that my application for the Cosmos Club was not being renewed."

Is this a hint that all government officials should follow the lead of the President? His brother, the attorney general, resigned from a club here that declines to admit Negroes. How long can other officials withstand the pressure being exerted? Many of the clubs here have members employed by the government or members who do business with the government.

To the new demagoguery, however, there may have to be added the "new hypocrisy." For there are lots of officials in the Kennedy administration—including President Kennedy and Vice President Johnson — who belong to clubs here and in New York and other parts of the country which practice various forms of racial and religious discrimination.

Will some administration official soon go to the annual meetings of such clubs and demand the passage of resolutions condemning what their admissions committees do when they bar certain applicants? It is just as logical, and it all comes under the head of the new coercion and the new demand for conformity.

In the more perfect world I keep making plans for, employes who have earned the privilege will be given drawing accounts for the equivalent of a year's salary and these accounts will be kept at maximum because nothing means more to a salaried worker than getting rid of that hand-to-mouth feeling.

As I understand the problem in the Congo, the Russians were sold a bill of goods on a hotshot named Gizenga, who turned out to be a pain in the neck, and our side turned out to be unhappy with a hotshot named Tshombe.

What I never understood in the squabble over fluorides is why antifluoriders don't go to places where the stuff is in the water naturally and insist it be removed. To me this would be consistent. As it is, I think these people are inconsistent.

I am sure this has been said a million times, but I heard myself telling a career girl recently she was part of a group of females in the United States now beginning to know what Thoreau meant when he said men lead lives of quiet desperation. It would be sound to think through all the implications of desgregation before lipping off about Washington private clubs that don't have women members and women's clubs that don't have men. Like organizations whose members are all interested in the same thing. Like sportsmen's clubs. Some principles are getting into controversy here that concern more than fairness to ethnic groups, such as freedom of private association.

Palestine Fire Loss Declines

EAST PALESTINE — The city's fire loss amounted to a meager $2,175 in 1961, Fire Chief Glenn Libert revealed today in the annual fire report. The 1960 fire loss was $6,665.

The biggest loss inside the city limits was a $600 blaze last spring at the home of Walter Sutherin of E. Main St.

The loss outside the city amounted to $22,900 — of which the biggest fire was the $20,000 blaze that destroyed the Robert Madden barn north of the city in December.

Firemen made 311 first aid calls last year, compared to 289 in 1960. There were 54 fire calls, of which 34 were actually blazes requiring firemen's services. The other calls were investigated or handled by Chief Libert alone.

Total cost of the fire department salaries was $6,129, of which $3,478 was paid to Libert as the city's only salaried fireman. Insurance companies reimbursed the city with payments totaling $2,400, making the total cost to the city $3,729, Libert said.

Hays Backed By Democrats

Rep. Wayne L. Hays of Flushing was endorsed for election to a new term when the Democratic county chairmen from the 18th Congressional District held a dinner meeting Thursday night at the Ft. Steuben Hotel at Steubenville. Eighteen attended.

Rep. Hays, veteran Democratic congressman, already has announced for an eighth term.

They are Miss Esther Pinsky of Bellaire and Don R. Gosney of Columbiana.

The state central committee members are elected from the five counties that comprise the congressional district — Columbiana, Jefferson, Belmont, Carroll and Harrison. Gosney also is the Columbiana County chairman. He now serves as vice chairman of the state committee.

The governor's race and other state ticket spots also were discussed, but no action was taken for endorsements. Attending, in addition to the county chairmen, were the vice chairmen from some counties, along with State Highway Department representatives.

In addition to Gosney, county chairmen attending were Atty. Hugo Alexander of Steubenville, the party's head in Jefferson County; Frank Vannelle, Belmont County; Paul Leatherberry, Carroll County, and Frank Kenny, Harrison County.

Sewage Bond Sale Sought

NEW CUMBERLAND — The Sanitary Board agreed Thursday night to apply to the Magnus Bonding Co. of Cincinnati for the purchase of $235,000 in water and sewage revenue bonds to finance construction of a new sewage disposal plant and improvements to the water system.

The board also signed two contracts with Ahl Brothers Construction Co. of Wheeling for phases of work on the projects.

The contracts are $58,596.50 for installation of interceptor sewer lines, and $17,358.88 for installation of cast iron water pipes.

Other contracts will be signed later. Atty. Edwin Flowers, solicitor, announced he is securing easements from property owners along the riverfront for sewer lines.

The board decided against billing the Jones flower garden owners for sewage payments because the firm will not use sewer lines in its work.

County To Build Garage On Y.&O.

Commissioners have purchased a tract of 3 1-3 acres at the junction of State Route 267 and the Y. & O. Rd. as a site for a garage and storage lot for the County Highway Department.

The county bought the land from William Keil and James Boyd for $6,000 and Boyd will erect the one-story steel and cement block building estimated at $10,000. The property fronts about 40 feet on the Y. & O. Rd. with the remainder behind the Boyd Lumber Co. Construction will start when weather permits.

The garage will house two trucks, a mower, loading machine and grader, and cinders and snow fence will be stored along side.

At present, the county is using a part of the old post office building at Wellsville but the new facility will put the local crew and equipment in the center of the area it serves, according to Charles Snyder, county highway engineer.

Snyder added the money will come from the road and bridge fund, not the general fund which will be short this year.

Chief Reports Decline In Palestine Arrests

EAST PALESTINE — Arrests declined in the city in 1961, according to a summary of police activities announced today by Acting Police Chief Wallace Dilworth.

Arrests totaled 925, compared to 1,044 in 1960 with the drop attributed largely to a dip in parking meter violations, Dilworth said.

There were 60 traffic accidents, compared to 67, and the city chalked up its fourth consecutive year without a traffic fatality.

Parking meter revenue was down from $4,986 in 1960 to $4,760 last year. The city's 160 meters were replaced.

Mayor Robert Harding's annual report showed receipts in his office amounted to $8,127, down from $8,517 of 1960.

County Heads Submit Levies For Primary

LISBON — A resolution calling for another vote on a proposed levy for the Columbiana County home and for county operations was adopted by county commissioners Thursday.

Both levies — a seven-tenths mill measure for the county home and eight-tenths for county operating funds — were turned down by voters in the November election.

The commissioners have declared the funds are needed for improvement to the home and to properly operate county government departments, hit this year by a budget pinch.

The measures will be certified for the County Board of Elections for the May 8 primary.

In other business the commissioners admitted one patient to the Ohio Tuberculosis Hospital and authorized release of another.

Travel allowance was authorized for the Juvenile Court to take a girl to the diagnostic center in Columbus.

Due To Get Divorce

NEW YORK (AP) — Actress Joan Bennett and producer Walter Wanger will get a divorce, after 22 years of marriage.

Miss Bennett, who has been residing in New York, said Thursday she and Wagner separated 18 months ago because of incompatability and she will get the divorce in Mexico soon.

Steubenville Man To Run

Douglas Applegate of Steubenville announced today he will seek another term as state representative from Jefferson County in the May 8 primary.

Jefferson County voters will elect only one representative to the Ohio Legislature this year instead of two.

Every 10 years, the county elects an "extra" representative and state senator. The second delegates were elected in 1960.

This means that the two Democratic incumbents—Applegate and Michael Blischak — will be opponents in the May 8 primary.

Serving his first term in the legislature, Applegate is a member of the committees on health, elections and federal relations, and financial institutions.

He has been in the real estate business several years, starting with his father, the late Earl D. Applegate, former mayor of Steubenville and former state representative.

Rep. Applegate is a member of the Westminster Presbyterian Church and the Steubenville Board of Realtors.

Hancock Leads State In CD Equipment At $2 Million

Hancock County lists more Civil Defense equipment than any other county in West Virginia, with more than $2 million in emergency gear, Norman D. Ferrari of Weirton said Thursday night.

Ferrari, CD director of the county, cited Hancock's preparedness for emergency in presenting a report on 1961 activities to mayors and police chiefs of Chester, Newell, Pughtown, Lawrenceville, New Cumberland and Weirton at a meeting in the Courthouse in the county seat.

Ferrari noted the county's equipment includes a portable field hospital and other equipment purchased at a cheap price from the federal government as surplus.

Booklets listing each piece of equipment, plus vehicles owned by the county and state and the various communities, were distributed.

The director said 1961 activities included distribution of 33,500 pieces of literature on Civil Defense, screening 35 movies of fire-fighting, demonstrations of rescue work to over 30 organizations in the Steubenville-Weirton areas, a course in disarming bombs attended by 26, construction of a fall-out shelter at Weir High School for public display, and 197 talks on Civil Defense.

Ferrari also said a special citation will be asked from the state for the Junior Women's Club of Weirton for its work in Civil Defense. He noted that 238 of 240 members have participated in CD projects, 171 of the women have passed first aid courses, and 43 had passed tests in home nursing.

Ferrari distributed the booklets listing emergency equipment to County Commissioners William C. Graham, Lyle Virden and James Finley, Mayors David T. Frew of Weirton, Ray Collins of Chester and Albert Fuccy of New Cumberland, J. Carl Durham of Newell, Sherman Williams of Lawrenceville, Julian Wilson of the Pughtown Garage of the State Road Commission, Earl Priest of Pughtown, and Edward Ewing, city manager of Weirton.

The county should realize its efforts in 1962 to acquire the buildings and five-acres of property at the site of abandoned Lock 9 in New Cumberland. A portion of the land has been promised to county firemen as a site to teach fire - fighting methods, Ferrari said.

Andrew Kondik of Weirton screened slides of "Operation Survival," in which five Weirton area men camped in the Alleghany Mountains with minimum rations and equipment in a test on survival in the wilderness.

NEW YORK (AP)—Edward H. Loeffler, 79, a retired stage, silent screen and vaudeville actor, was fatally injured Thursday when he was struck by a car near his Staten Island home.

Wellsville Motorist Fined At Cumberland

Charles W. Patterson, 26, of Wellsville was fined $10 and costs for failure to have his car under control at a hearing Thursday before Police Court Judge John D. Herron at New Cumberland.

He was cited yesterday after his auto went out of control on Ridge Ave. and crashed through the door of a garage owned by George Steubenvoll, Police Chief William Webster said.

The mishap occurred after Patterson, driving east on Ridge Ave., attempted to stop for a car ahead which had halted. The brakes on Patterson's car failed, and the vehicle went of the road and through the door of the garage, the chief said.

$12,522 Drop Reported For Court Income

Municipal Court revenue totaled $44,234 in 1961, off $12,522 from the $56,766 shown in 1960, Clerk Wilbur J. Harmon said today in his annual report.

The court turned over a total of $40,328 to the city treasury from last year's income, a drop of $9,933 from the $50,261 the city received in 1960.

Judge Samuel M. Chertoff commented that the continuing sharp decline in the number of drunken driving cases, coupled with depressed area economic conditions, helped account for the drop in criminal receipts last year.

At the end of 1960, when he had completed his first year in office, it was estimated that the number of drunken driving cases had fallen off 60 per cent from the preceding year. A further decline was noted during 1961.

"My pledge when assuming the bench a year ago was that if a stern policy toward drinking and driving would save as much as one life I would feel well repaid," the judge commented. "I feel the continuing reduction in cases shows the policy has had an effect."

The revenue turned over to the city in 1961 was comprised of $32,000 in fines and costs from city criminal cases and $8,328 in costs from civil actions. The criminal receipts were down $11,000 from the $43,000 shown in the preceding year, but civil costs were up $2,043 from the $6,285 listed for 1960.

In addition to the amount paid the city, the court turned over $1,505 to the county treasury from state cases; $1,170 to the state treasury, also from state cases, and paid $1,229 to the Law Library Association.

The total handled by the court was $119,128 last year, up $13,167 from the $105,961 listed in 1960. The amount handled last year included $65,417 in the civil branch and $53,710 in the criminal branch.

Fines and costs, by months, in city criminal cases, were: January, $2,605; February, $2,075; March, $3,756; April, $2,437; May, $2,612; June, $2,406; July, $3,261; August, $2,618; September, $2,164; October, $2,920; November, $1,519, and December, $3,622.

Civil costs by months were: January, $465; February, $594; March, $731; April, $950; May, $750; June, $668; July, $817; August, $663; September, $727; October, $621; November, $787, and December, $549.

A total of 767 civil cases was filed in 1961, compared with 710 in 1960. The court disposed of 837 and 184 were left pending.

There were 535 state criminal charges filed, against 544 in 1960. The court disposed of 537 and 96 were left pending.

Seeks Fourth Term

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — State Sen. Walter A. Holden of Clarksburg has filed as a candidate for Democratic renomination in the 13th Senatorial District. He is serving his third term.

Wreck

fore the auto hit the pole, the motorist apparently straddled the sidewalk, rubbing the inside of the left wheels against the curb, in an effort to slow the car's progress, officers said.

There were no skid marks at the scene, another factor indicating the brakes had failed.

Police also found the auto was in second gear, indicating the driver had shifted out of high into the lower gear in an effort to slow the auto by holding it back with the compression of the engine.

Patrolman Leonard E. Richard, first to arrive on the scene, said he found the youth slumped backward in the driver's seat. He summoned an ambulance to remove the victim to the hospital, where he was pronounced dead by a physician at 6:35.

The report of the crash was phoned to police by George F. Crossen, 807 St. Clair Ave. He told officers he had just arisen when he heard the noise of the collision and ran outside in his pajamas to investigate.

Crossen told police he thought the auto was traveling slowly, probably less than 30 miles an hour, at the time of the crash.

Police said they understood the youth had been employed at the Newell pottery only a few weeks. The utility pole was shattered but still standing after the crash. Officers listed the car as a total loss.

Patrolman Paul E. Carter paced off the distance the car traveled while straddling the curb. He said it appeared the driver steered the car in such a way that the left wheels would rub against the curb and slow its pace.

He was born in East Liverpool and was a lifetime resident. Employed as a laborer at the Homer Laughlin Plant 5, he also worked in the evenings at the Ray Wilson Gas Station in East End. A 1960 graduate of East Liverpool High School, he also attended Kent State University. He was a member of the First Church of Christ, the Key Club and the Harding Chapter of the Order of DeMolay.

He leaves his parents, Frank Miller and Hazel King Miller, both at the home, and a sister, Miss Judith Miller of Cuyahoga Falls.

Services will be held Monday at 2 p.m. at the Martin Funeral Home by John N. Mostoller. Burial will be in Columbiana County Memorial Park.

Friends may call at the funeral home Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Carpenter's resignation, which was accepted "with deep regret," is effective April 1. She resides at 528 Elizabeth St.

Mrs. Ila Johnston was sworn in as a board member by Howard Claypool, clerk.

by his troops, sat glumly under guard in a waiting room in the National Palace as Bonnelly was installed in the council conference chamber 150 feet away. Just two months ago Rodriguez Echavarria, 37, had been a hero to Dominicans for leading the air force uprising that expelled the last of the Trujillo dynasty.

His guards said the general would be held prisoner until the State Council decided his fate.

Air Force Gen. Andres Rodriguez Mendez was named Rodriguez Echavarria's successor as chief of the armd forces, the government-operated Radio Caribe reported.

Rodriguez Mendez was commander of the Barahona base from which the November air force uprising was launched. A group of air force officers who resigned in December, charging Rodriguez Echavarria with dictatorial ambitions, said Rodriguez Mendez was the real leader of that revolt.

Overloaded power lines caused the National Palace lights to flicker and the more than 200 persons jamming the small conference room looked about nervously as Bonnelly swore to uphold the constitution and carry out its democratic principles.

In Washington, officials were mum on the latest development but the council appeared assured of full U.S. support, including trade and economic assistance.

Quick pledges of support from the army, navy and air force lifted one great problem from the council, but many lie ahead.

When the council was installed Jan. 1, it received only lukewarm acceptance from the moderate, left-center revolutionary party and the scathing disapproval of the leftist 14th of June Movement.

The 14th of June Movement lost no time in getting its pro-Castro propaganda guns rolling again immediately after the council was restored. Its loudspeakers called on the jubilant crowd to demand the installation of a government of "national unity" and quick trial of both Balaguer and Rodriguez Echavarria as traitors.

With the exception of Balaguer, the State Council has the same membership it had before: Bonnelly, Dr. Nicolas Pichardo president of the University Professors Association and a civic union member; Eduardo R. Barreras, former president of the supreme court; Msgr. Eliseo Perez Sanchez, Roman Catholic vicar general of the nation, and businessmen Antonio Imbert and Luis Amiama Tio, the only survivors of the band that plotted the assassination last May of Dictator Rafael L. Trujillo.

The military junta issued a series of sweeping decrees designed to stifle opposition, but Rodriguez Echavarria was unable to maintain order. Anger was evident everywhere.

Youths roamed the streets, setting fires and taunting soldiers. Noise bombs exploded throughout the capital. Businessmen defied the junta and shut down shops. Commercial life screeched to a halt.

The end came swiftly about 8 Thursday night, Bonnelly said, when Rodriguez Echavarria came to visit the imprisoned council members.

"While he was there a group of officers came and asked us if we were prisoners and when we said 'yes' they pointed their guns at Rodriguez Echavarria and made him prisoner," Bonnelly said. "He offered no resistance."

$12,522 Drop Reported For Court Income

Municipal Court revenue totaled $44,234 in 1961, off $12,522 from the $56,766 shown in 1960, Clerk Wilbur J. Harmon said today in his annual report.

The court turned over a total of $40,328 to the city treasury from last year's income, a drop of $9,933 from the $50,261 the city received in 1960.

Judge Samuel M. Chertoff commented that the continuing sharp decline in the number of drunken driving cases, coupled with depressed area economic conditions, helped account for the drop in criminal receipts last year.

At the end of 1960, when he had completed his first year in office, it was estimated that the number of drunken driving cases had fallen off 60 per cent from the preceding year. A further decline was noted during 1961.

"My pledge when assuming the bench a year ago was that if a stern policy toward drinking and driving would save as much as one life I would feel well repaid," the judge commented. "I feel the continuing reduction in cases shows the policy has had an effect."

The revenue turned over to the city in 1961 was comprised of $32,000 in fines and costs from city criminal cases and $8,328 in costs from civil actions. The criminal receipts were down $11,000 from the $43,000 shown in the preceding year, but civil costs were up $2,043 from the $6,285 listed for 1960.

In addition to the amount paid the city, the court turned over $1,505 to the county treasury from state cases; $1,170 to the state treasury, also from state cases, and paid $1,229 to the Law Library Association.

The total handled by the court was $119,128 last year, up $13,167 from the $105,961 listed in 1960. The amount handled last year included $65,417 in the civil branch and $53,710 in the criminal branch.

Fines and costs, by months, in city criminal cases, were: January, $2,605; February, $2,075; March, $3,756; April, $2,437; May, $2,612; June, $2,406; July, $3,261; August, $2,618; September, $2,164; October, $2,920; November, $1,519, and December, $3,622.

Civil costs by months were: January, $465; February, $594; March, $731; April, $950; May, $750; June, $668; July, $817; August, $663; September, $727; October, $621; November, $787, and December, $549.

A total of 767 civil cases was filed in 1961, compared with 710 in 1960. The court disposed of 837 and 184 were left pending.

There were 535 state criminal charges filed, against 544 in 1960. The court disposed of 537 and 96 were left pending.

fore the auto hit the pole, the motorist apparently straddled the sidewalk, rubbing the inside of the left wheels against the curb, in an effort to slow the car's progress, officers said.

There were no skid marks at the scene, another factor indicating the brakes had failed.

Police also found the auto was in second gear, indicating the driver had shifted out of high into the lower gear in an effort to slow the auto by holding it back with the compression of the engine.

Patrolman Leonard E. Richard, first to arrive on the scene, said he found the youth slumped backward in the driver's seat. He summoned an ambulance to remove the victim to the hospital, where he was pronounced dead by a physician at 6:35.

The report of the crash was phoned to police by George F. Crossen, 807 St. Clair Ave. He told officers he had just arisen when he heard the noise of the collision and ran outside in his pajamas to investigate.

Crossen told police he thought the auto was traveling slowly, probably less than 30 miles an hour, at the time of the crash.

Police said they understood the youth had been employed at the Newell pottery only a few weeks. The utility pole was shattered but still standing after the crash. Officers listed the car as a total loss.

Patrolman Paul E. Carter paced off the distance the car traveled while straddling the curb. He said it appeared the driver steered the car in such a way that the left wheels would rub against the curb and slow its pace.

He was born in East Liverpool and was a lifetime resident. Employed as a laborer at the Homer Laughlin Plant 5, he also worked in the evenings at the Ray Wilson Gas Station in East End. A 1960 graduate of East Liverpool High School, he also attended Kent State University. He was a member of the First Church of Christ, the Key Club and the Harding Chapter of the Order of DeMolay.

He leaves his parents, Frank Miller and Hazel King Miller, both at the home, and a sister, Miss Judith Miller of Cuyahoga Falls.

Services will be held Monday at 2 p.m. at the Martin Funeral Home by John N. Mostoller. Burial will be in Columbiana County Memorial Park.

Friends may call at the funeral home Saturday and Sunday.

Diaper Rash

Q. What is the best treatment for diaper rash?

A. This is a good question because it illustrates an important point in medicine. Diaper rash is a catch-all term applied to most any eruption involving the diaper area. The constant irritation and softening of the skin caused by wet diapers provides fertile conditions for a variety of skin ailments. Germs normally present on the skin act on the urine to produce ammonia, which in turn produces further irritation and blistering. After this, almost any type of infection can occur, each perhaps requiring different types of medication. General measures to avoid "diaper rash" include frequent changing of diapers, avoidance of harsh detergents in washing diapers, and avoidance of prolonged wearing of rubber or plastic pants.

Q. Is it true that no two fingerprints are ever alike?

A. The probability of two persons having identical fingerprints is estimated mathematically to be about 1 in 64 billion. The modern use of dermatoglyphics (fingerprinting) is credited to Mark Twain who introduced the subject in "Life on the Mississippi" and "Puddin' Head Wilson." However, man's awareness of the patterned ridges on his fingers and palms goes back thousands of years. The most famous of ancient fingerprint designs are carvings on the walls of Neolithic burial passages located on an island off Brittany. Chinese documents of about 800 A.D. refer to fingerprints being impressed upon business contracts, divorce papers and contracts dealing with the sale of children.

Dieters Can Reduce And Enjoy Eating

The secret of successful slimming is to lessen your food capacity. Hunger is in the stomach, but appetite is in the mind. The best way to cut appetite down to size is to substitute excellent quality for overly-abundant quantity.

Ida Jean Kain

Overeating enlarges food capacity and lessens resistance to overeating. In short, the more food you get into the habit of eating, the more your appetite grows. This may seem pardoxical. And looking at it from the standpoint of a single meal, the above warning doesn't apply.

But take the long view . . . as the food intake is increased, the food capacity stretches until gradually more and more food is needed to satisfy.

ONCE ALERTED to the full significance of what you are doing by the practice of overeating, you will never deliberately overeat again! Suddenly you realize you have developed a ditch digger's appetite when actually your fuel requirements are geared to push-button housework, or a desk job.

What to do? Well, since the amount of food that satisfies depends to considerable extent on the size of the stomach, practice eating smaller meals. You will not feel deprived if you switch the emphasis from quantity to superb quality.

Too many overweights who are trying to reduce regard diet with a sort of defeatist attitude. Do you? Do you feel that the less attractive the meal the easier it will be to refrain from eating to beltpressing proportions? This plan is deadly dull, and soon the diet palls and back you go to fattening fare.

Be a gourmet dieter. It's fun to plan good meals that are low in calories. On a chilly day, start the meal with piping hot soup, made with skim milk. This plan is infinitely more satisfying than to have a glass of skim milk as a beverage.

Garnish the soup with thin slices of radish, or with a very thin slice of lemon or orange. A bit of grated cheese on top adds flavor for a few calories. With the soup have crisp celery.

Experiment, in many recipes you can subtract calories without detracting from flavor. In recipes that call for milk, use skim milk. Broil, bake or rotisserie meat, fowl and fish. Make vegetables an important part of the meal — do not overcook vegetables.

ADD A TOUCH of herbs, but use the light touch. Basil gives a lift to asparagus, green beans and tomatoes. With the squash family, nutmeg is the delightful spice to use. For vegetables that cry-out for butter, add lemon juice to a small amount of melted butter or margarine.

Plan good meals that are moderately low in calories, so you can enjoy eating — without pangs of guilt, or fear of fat.

Send a stamped, self - addressed, long envelope for "Revised Calorie Chart." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain in care of this newspaper. Postcard requests cannot be answered.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Retarded Child Needs Parent's Help

When I see a child noticeably retarded mentally, and properly cared for by his parents, I'm not moved so much with compassion for the child as for his parents. I know it's not easy for them to keep from asking, "Why did this have to happen to us?" Nor is it easy for them to accept him as he is and to be able to use all their available resources to help him develop as far as possible and for the rest of the family to develop and live normal lives. I keep thinking of those parents of the mentally handicapped child who have such great concern about him that they often forget and neglect his normal brothers and sisters.

Dr. Garry Meyers

ON THE OTHER hand, you and I have been inspired by the growing number of parents who do accept the mentally handicapped child, and by their sensible ways help him develop the abilities he has and feel that he belongs. If these accepting parents have other children, they may also be able to help these children to develop wholesomely.

Even parents who fully accept their mentally handicapped child may not always find it easy to get their other children to accept him as well, especially if the handicap causes him to seem queer to their playmates.

His brothers and sisters may often feel ashamed of him and believe their playmates might look down on them because of him. They may feel greatly burdened in having this handicapped brother or sister.

WHAT CAN PARENTS do about this matter?

In addition to their good example, they may lead their other children to see the amount and nature of the handicap and to imagine themselves in the place of the handicapped brother or sister. They may hope to win their neighbors to appreciate the child's limitations.

Perhaps the parents can do most when they are able to prevail on the normal brothers and sisters to help their playmates see the nature and extent of the handicap and to wish to be kind to the less fortunate child and help him enjoy doing whatever he is able to do.

How wonderful when parents acquire skill in guiding the other children in ways to help the less fortunate child learn and do all he is able to do! The results could be an enrichment of the inner lives of all members of the family.

You and I have actually seen this happen.

"The Retarded Child Goes to School" may be had from the U.S. Supt. of Public Documents, Washington, D. C., for 15 cents.

Edwards has been on the FBI's 10 most wanted list for two months for escaping from a Portland, Ore., jail Dec. 10, 1960. His wife, Marlene, 27, whom he married in 1960, apparently drove the getaway car, officials charge.

The warrants were issued on an FBI complaint by U.S. Commissioner William L. Curtis in Akron Thursday. The pair is at large.

The Arlington Plaza branch was held up 10 minutes before closing by a well-dressed man. Akron Detective Capt. Carroll Cutright said bank employes and other witness identified Edwards as the gunman who robbed the bank.

More Jobs, Less Working Hours

Success Of Electricians Cites Labor's New Drive

By NORMAN WALKER
Associated Press Labor Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Success by several thousand New York City electricians in negotiating a 25-hour week is the first result of a new labor drive to create more jobs by reducing working hours.

The drive was kicked off only a little more than a month ago in AFL-CIO convention resolutions calling for strenuous union efforts to reduce the present standard 40-hour work week — both through legislation and contract negotiations—and thus share with more individuals the available work opportunities.

President Kennedy has repeatedly stated opposition to reducing the work week in the present economic situation and state of world trade competition.

Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg has said the same thing. But he has added that the administration has no objection to employers and labor unions negotiating shorter work weeks if they deem it wise for their own particular firms or industries.

The shorter work week just negotiated by the New York electricians is sure to be a major talking point in an AFL-CIO economic-legislative conference here next week. It is to be keyed to economic problems and ways of reducing the nation's $4.1 million unemployed. Goldberg is to be a speaker.

In New York, contractors agreed under pressure of a strike to reduced working hours for members of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers. The union had sought a four-hour day.

In place of a six-hour day plus a seventh hour at overtime pay previously worked by the men, they will henceforth have a five-hour day, with a sixth hour at overtime. Because straight-time pay was raised from $4.40 to $4.96 an hour, their five-day earnings will be about the same.

The union made clear that it was worried about the inroads of automated construction methods and wanted to share the available work among more men. There is actually a shortage of electricians in New York, but the union said it will recruit 1,000 apprentices.

Reducing work hours has long been a major union goal. One of the nation's earliest recorded labor strikes was by Philadelphia carpenters for a 10-hour day. Congress legislated the 40-hour week in 1938.

According to government statistics between 15 and 20 per cent of all plant and office workers have less than a 40-hour work week—about one of every five or six. This is most prevalent in the printing, clothing, brewing, rubber, lumber and fur industries.

Slayer Granted Execution Stay To File Appeal

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Chief Justice Carl V. Weygandt of the Ohio Supreme Court today granted an indefinite stay to a condemned Toledo slayer to permit his attorneys to file an appeal with the United States Supreme Court.

Lawson E. Schaber, 24, had been scheduled to die in Ohio Penitentiary's electric chair tonight for the murder of Velma Byers, a Toledo taxi driver, during a robbery Feb. 18, 1960.

The Ohio Supreme Court had refused last Dec. 20 to consider Schaber's appeal.

Last Wednesday, Mr. and Mrs. Lawson Schaber had made a personal appeal to Gov. Micheal V. DiSalle to spare the son from death.

Ohio Prison Escapee Nabbed In Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A prisoner who escaped from an Ohio prison was arrested in Pittsburgh Thursday night, FBI Special Agent Bernard C. Brown announced.

He identified the man as John Albert Collins, 34, a native of Pittsburgh, who was serving a 1-15 year term for burglary when he escaped Dec. 17 from the Shawnee Honor Camp, a branch of the London Correctional Institution at London, Ohio.

Bishops Sponsor Talks On Federal Aid To Education

CLEVELAND (AP) — Catholic Bishops of Ohio are sponsoring a public meeting here next month to discuss the constitutionality of federal aid to education.

The conference, to be held Feb. 3, will be the first of five in Ohio in coming months. The others are to be in Toledo, Youngstown, Columbus and Dayton.

The conferences apparently are planned as a followup to the release last month of a Catholic study, which declared federal aid limited to secular or neutral aspects of education in church - related schools would be constitutional.

The study was made by the legal department of the National Catholic Welfare Conference, a voluntary organization of the American bishops.

Announcement of the regional meetings comes on the heels of President Kennedy's renewed request to Congress for federal aid to public — but not to private—schools.

He said the department is checking into the labeling matter and to see if the cosmetic actually contains vitamin A.

High School Group To Play

Winter Pop Concert Set Saturday

Three East Liverpool High School musicians are shown injecting some humor in their practice for the fifth annual Winter Pop Concert to be given Saturday night at 7:30 in the Memorial Auditorium.

Dave Fey, student director of the marching band, is shown at left; Jim Baxter is trumpet soloist for the orchestra, and Richard (Bud) Andrews, student director, waves a bat for a baton.

Highlighting the band program will be "Victory at Sea" (Rodgers) and "Serenata" (Anderson). The orchestra will feature "Andalucia Suite" (Lecuona) and "Trumpeter's Lullaby" (Anderson), with Baxter as soloist.

A night club atmosphere will be featured with the audience seated at tables. The price of admission includes free refreshments.

Serving the tables will be students from the instrumental departments of East Junior and Westgate Junior High Schools and the marching band majorettes.

The concert closes the first semester activities for the school and the 100-member marching band which will perform. Starting the second semester, concert and varsity bands will be formed. The concert band will consist of the 60 top musicians from the 100-member group. The remainder plus some duplication will comprise the varsity band, Maola said.

Counseling Center Dinner March 6

Educator To Be Speaker At Group's Dinner Event

Dr. Walter B. Barbe, head of the Department of Special Education at Kent State University, will be the speaker for the eighth annual dinner meeting of the Child Counseling Center.

The event will take place March 6 at the Trinity United Presbyterian Church.

Arrangements for the dinner were advanced Thursday night when the center's Board of Directors held its monthly meeting at the offices in Mary Patterson Memorial.

Mrs. Alice Ann Costello, representing St. Aloysius Church and school, and Lee Kirkland, principal of Beaver Local High School, became new members of the board.

Paul Blair, a member of the membership committee, reported that 475 letters had been mailed recently in a membership drive and that $271 had been received in 52 replies to date.

In conjunction with the fund campaign, Judge Louis Tobin announced that Glenn Roberts, community relations director of the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co., said a check for $670 would be forwarded to the center shortly from the combined charities fund on behalf of the mill's East Liverpool employes.

The counseling center depends on voluntary contributions to finance its program, which requires a budget of more than $5,000 annually for salaries and office expenses.

The directors voted to change the meeting date to the second Thursday of each month to avoid conflict with the testing schedule already set up by Monda.

Beaver Creek Park To Get Camp Facility

Real "roughing it" camping facilities are slated for Beaver Creek State Park and three other state parks in Ohio, it was revealed at a public hearing of the Ohio Parks Division Thursday at Columbus.

Four new primitive campsites have been proposed with limited facilities to cover increasing demands by campers for unmarred, uninhabited private areas, Division Chief V. W. Flickinger announced.

Elmer Hiles, manager of the 1,300-acre park in the Echo Dell area, said he is awaiting final instructions from Columbus to begin clearing ground for the campsites and opening a rough road.

Hiles said three tentative sites have been proposed, but he has not been notified of the final selection.

He said the sites will be designed for campers who want to "get away from it all;" there will be no water supplies, no picnic tables, no grills. He said a pit-type toilet will be furnished.

The other three parks due these rustic facilities are Old Man's Cave in Hocking County, Pymatuning State Park in Ashtabula County and Tar Hollow Park in Ross-Hocking Counties.

Counseling Center Dinner March 6

Educator To Be Speaker At Group's Dinner Event

Dr. Walter B. Barbe, head of the Department of Special Education at Kent State University, will be the speaker for the eighth annual dinner meeting of the Child Counseling Center.

The event will take place March 6 at the Trinity United Presbyterian Church.

Arrangements for the dinner were advanced Thursday night when the center's Board of Directors held its monthly meeting at the offices in Mary Patterson Memorial.

Mrs. Alice Ann Costello, representing St. Aloysius Church and school, and Lee Kirkland, principal of Beaver Local High School, became new members of the board.

Paul Blair, a member of the membership committee, reported that 475 letters had been mailed recently in a membership drive and that $271 had been received in 52 replies to date.

In conjunction with the fund campaign, Judge Louis Tobin announced that Glenn Roberts, community relations director of the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co., said a check for $670 would be forwarded to the center shortly from the combined charities fund on behalf of the mill's East Liverpool employes.

The counseling center depends on voluntary contributions to finance its program, which requires a budget of more than $5,000 annually for salaries and office expenses.

The directors voted to change the meeting date to the second Thursday of each month to avoid conflict with the testing schedule already set up by Monda.

Beaver Creek Park To Get Camp Facility

Real "roughing it" camping facilities are slated for Beaver Creek State Park and three other state parks in Ohio, it was revealed at a public hearing of the Ohio Parks Division Thursday at Columbus.

Four new primitive campsites have been proposed with limited facilities to cover increasing demands by campers for unmarred, uninhabited private areas, Division Chief V. W. Flickinger announced.

Elmer Hiles, manager of the 1,300-acre park in the Echo Dell area, said he is awaiting final instructions from Columbus to begin clearing ground for the campsites and opening a rough road.

Hiles said three tentative sites have been proposed, but he has not been notified of the final selection.

He said the sites will be designed for campers who want to "get away from it all;" there will be no water supplies, no picnic tables, no grills. He said a pit-type toilet will be furnished.

The other three parks due these rustic facilities are Old Man's Cave in Hocking County, Pymatuning State Park in Ashtabula County and Tar Hollow Park in Ross-Hocking Counties.

First 12 Months In White House

Kennedy Faced Problems Fused With Peril Of War

WASHINGTON (AP) — For 12 uneasy months now, John Fitzgerald Kennedy has wrestled with world problems fused with dangers of war.

He has had to cope, too, with weighty, though largely overshadowed, domestic affairs.

This somewhat secondary role for home front matters is mirrored in President Kennedy's assessment of the most rewarding and disappointing events that confronted him in his first year in the White House.

He put it into two long sentences at a news conference Monday:

"Well, I would say the most disappointing event was our failure to get an agreement on the cessation of nuclear testing, because I think that that might have been a very important step in easing the tension and preventing a proliferation of the weapons, and also in making more possible for us to progress on disarmament and some of the other matters that divide us.

"The thing that I think is the most heartening is the fact that . . . there is a greater surge for unity in the Western nations, and in our relations with Latin America, and also I think, it has become more obvious that people do desire to be free and independent."

Naturally these and other events of the year gone by have affected the 44-year-old chief executive. They have brought changes in the man and around the man who just a year ago Saturday took the presidential oath and then set out to break trail along the New Frontier.

The changes in Kennedy personally aren't of a kind that can be measured accurately or defined precisely. People closely identified with him say that they are there, as a result of a year's rigorous on-the-job training; that they represent normal evolution and no abrupt basic shifts in character, attitude or personality.

The man in the White House doesn't look much different after a trying year. He is a little leaner. He has a little more salting of grey in his light brown hair.

He seems a little less cocksure now, a bit more cautious, sober and reflective than he was on that day a year ago when he embarked on the climatic phase of a carefully planned political career that brought him swiftly to the top.

From the front of the majestic capitol, in a bright sun that had displaced a howling blizzard, the new president spoke. He summoned his fellow Americans to pay any price, bear any burden, to defend freedom "in its hour or maximum danger."

He was somber but confident then. He appears to have more confidence now, a confidence heightened by experience, learning and a conviction that he enjoys far more public support than he had in the hour of what he calls his "gnat's eyelash" election victory.

If international crises and domestic issues weren't enough, there were personal woes and illnesses to plague the President during the year gone by.

Kennedy's 73-year-old father still is partly paralyzed from a stroke. Kennedy himself fought a cold and a virus, gashed his forehead near his eye brow on a table, and still favors a wrenched back that put him on crutches for weeks.

A medical checkup Dec. 28 produced word that the bad back, strained in a tree-planting ceremony in Canada last May, is stronger, but that there will be ups and downs and setbacks.

He still is vigorous, restless, a man on the go. He still has a warmth and friendliness toward ordinary people, a sparkling wit, human touches.

He has needed these and other qualities, including stamina and courage, during a year in which both advances and setbacks stood out like milestones along the new frontier—as they have in most administrations.

The Cuban invasion debacle—Kennedy took full blame for the blunder—unquestionably was the greatest mistake and taught the hardest lesson of the first year.

Kennedy encountered probably his greatest disappointment in Vienna, where he found Soviet Premier Khrushchev as difficult as he thought he might be but hoped he wouldn't be.

Persons in daily contact with the chief executive say he got three real lifts toward the close of the year.

One was his trip to Venezuela and Colombia. It gave him a feeling that things were moving again in this hemisphere. Another was an interview, given to a Soviet editor, a son-in-law of Khrushchev. It penetrated the Iron Curtain and, the White House believes, impressed people around the world with the way Kennedy handled the questions and answers.

Perhaps the biggest morale booster was the come-from-behind Democratic victory in the New Jersey gubernatorial election in November. A Democratic defeat would have been interpreted as something of a Kennedy defeat, since he interceded in the campaign on the one side and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, his predecessor, on the other.

One close associate of the President thinks Kennedy has obtained the greatest personal satisfaction from building up the national defense and from the administration's soft-sell approach to Congress.

The bolstering of the military, from missiles down to conventional weapons and manpower, in effect drew a line and told Russia any attempt to step across it would mean trouble.

On the matter of attempting to ram his program through Congress—he got some major items and missed on some—Kennedy was under pressure from men around him to go over the heads of the legislators directly to the voters. He decided against it, partly to reserve this stratagem for some major crisis, if necessary.

One result was a fusillade from Republicans claiming Kennedy was failing to demonstrate leadership.

Perhaps Kennedy didn't come up to some expectations in the matter of leadership. He had campaigned long and hard with contentions the country was stalled on dead center and promises to get it moving again. So there were those who looked for some spectacular, flamboyant action.

But flashy action would have been a bit out of character for Kennedy. There was nothing in his background to suggest he would resort to it.

Many of the President's most trusted associates from the old days now are on the White House staff—"government by college roommate," the Republicans say.

This points up another change—in Kennedy's method of operation, rather than in the man. Kennedy leans primarily on 17 men for advice and help. He has whittled the total down from about twice that number.

The 17 are the hard core of men in whom Kennedy has the greatest trust and confidence. Among them are seven holdovers from the political campaign or earlier days.

They are special counsel Theodore C. Sorensen and his assistant, Myer Feldman; special assistants Kenneth P. O'Donnell, Lawrence F. O'Brien and Ralph A. Dungan; press secretary Pierre Salinger, and, of course, brother Robert F. Kennedy, the attorney general.

The newcomers of the last year include five Cabinet members—Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, Secretary of Welfare Abraham A. Ribicoff and Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg.

The remaining five are Budget Director David E. Bell; the military aide, Maj. Gen. Chester V. Clifton; the military adviser, Gen. Maxwell Taylor; McGeorge Bundy, special assistant for national security affairs, and Walter W. Heller, chairman of the council of economic advisers.

Look around the White House and there is plenty of evidence of other changes and innovations.

The executive mansion is a more informal place these days. For it is more elegant in some ways and has more of an air of history.

Mrs. Kennedy has done over and refurbished, with paint, wallpaper, carpets, art and antiques. Guests have heard Shakespeare, a symphony and celloist Pablo Casals.

Then there is 4-year-old Caroline Kennedy, who is "Buttons" to the President and is a national sweetheart to the rest of the country.

Key Questions Remain In Tariff-Cutting Plan

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—The United States' fifth major tariff cutting since World War II will affect individual American industries and companies first—and consumers probably much later.

The tariff cuts are in the form of a bargain just struck between the United States and the six-nation European Economic Community. We cut some of our levies on their goods and they cut some of theirs on ours.

The tariff agreement will become general under the policy of allowing all 40 nations in the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade to share in the fruits of such bargains, if they happen to make any of the items involved.

And Britain, for one, is reported ready to cut some of her duties in line with the U.S.-EEC deal.

Since European tariffs tend to be higher than ours, the lowering in their barriers just arranged is expected to aid American companies sell their goods in the growing markets of prospering Europe.

The lowering of our tariffs, in turn, will let some foreign goods enter here at a cheaper price. But just how much more will come in as a result of the new tariff pact remains to be seen. Other factors, tastes, quality, maintenance, enter in.

Also still up in the air are the companion questions: Will lower duties be passed along in lower consumer prices? Or will there just be more varieties of foreign goods available at the stores or in the industrial materials markets?

Both the American and the European tariff schedules are so complex as to defy generalizations. Each product tends to stand in a class by itself. Many come into the United States duty free. Coffee is an obvious example.

Others are subject to duties, but are affected more by quota limitations. Sugar is an example. The United States regulates, country by country, just how many pounds can come in. This effectively sets the price, since the quota is changed from time to time to fit consumer demand.

In many products, the United States is much more liberal than are the European nations. Take autos. The U.S. rate is 8.5 per cent on foreign made cars. The English rate on American made cars is 30 per cent and the Italian 40 per cent.

Cuts in these rates under the new agreement could lower the price here on some foreign made cars but whether enough to affect sales is another question. If England and the six common market nations—France, Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands, Luxembourg—lower their tariffs on our cars, it might let more in, but there could still be the stumbling blocks of high sales taxes, quota limitations, taxes based on horsepower which could keep U.S. car makers at a disadvantage.

This points up another change—in Kennedy's method of operation, rather than in the man. Kennedy leans primarily on 17 men for advice and help. He has whittled the total down from about twice that number.

The 17 are the hard core of men in whom Kennedy has the greatest trust and confidence. Among them are seven holdovers from the political campaign or earlier days.

They are special counsel Theodore C. Sorensen and his assistant, Myer Feldman; special assistants Kenneth P. O'Donnell, Lawrence F. O'Brien and Ralph A. Dungan; press secretary Pierre Salinger, and, of course, brother Robert F. Kennedy, the attorney general.

The newcomers of the last year include five Cabinet members—Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, Secretary of Welfare Abraham A. Ribicoff and Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg.

The remaining five are Budget Director David E. Bell; the military aide, Maj. Gen. Chester V. Clifton; the military adviser, Gen. Maxwell Taylor; McGeorge Bundy, special assistant for national security affairs, and Walter W. Heller, chairman of the council of economic advisers.

Look around the White House and there is plenty of evidence of other changes and innovations.

The executive mansion is a more informal place these days. For it is more elegant in some ways and has more of an air of history.

Mrs. Kennedy has done over and refurbished, with paint, wallpaper, carpets, art and antiques. Guests have heard Shakespeare, a symphony and celloist Pablo Casals.

Then there is 4-year-old Caroline Kennedy, who is "Buttons" to the President and is a national sweetheart to the rest of the country.

Key Questions Remain In Tariff-Cutting Plan

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—The United States' fifth major tariff cutting since World War II will affect individual American industries and companies first—and consumers probably much later.

The tariff cuts are in the form of a bargain just struck between the United States and the six-nation European Economic Community. We cut some of our levies on their goods and they cut some of theirs on ours.

The tariff agreement will become general under the policy of allowing all 40 nations in the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade to share in the fruits of such bargains, if they happen to make any of the items involved.

And Britain, for one, is reported ready to cut some of her duties in line with the U.S.-EEC deal.

Since European tariffs tend to be higher than ours, the lowering in their barriers just arranged is expected to aid American companies sell their goods in the growing markets of prospering Europe.

The lowering of our tariffs, in turn, will let some foreign goods enter here at a cheaper price. But just how much more will come in as a result of the new tariff pact remains to be seen. Other factors, tastes, quality, maintenance, enter in.

Also still up in the air are the companion questions: Will lower duties be passed along in lower consumer prices? Or will there just be more varieties of foreign goods available at the stores or in the industrial materials markets?

Both the American and the European tariff schedules are so complex as to defy generalizations. Each product tends to stand in a class by itself. Many come into the United States duty free. Coffee is an obvious example.

Others are subject to duties, but are affected more by quota limitations. Sugar is an example. The United States regulates, country by country, just how many pounds can come in. This effectively sets the price, since the quota is changed from time to time to fit consumer demand.

In many products, the United States is much more liberal than are the European nations. Take autos. The U.S. rate is 8.5 per cent on foreign made cars. The English rate on American made cars is 30 per cent and the Italian 40 per cent.

Cuts in these rates under the new agreement could lower the price here on some foreign made cars but whether enough to affect sales is another question. If England and the six common market nations—France, Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands, Luxembourg—lower their tariffs on our cars, it might let more in, but there could still be the stumbling blocks of high sales taxes, quota limitations, taxes based on horsepower which could keep U.S. car makers at a disadvantage.

Peanuts, Popcorn, Crackerjack . . .

While the Pittsburgh Pirates were winning the National League Flag in 1960 and while they were not winning it last season, a tall vendor roamed through Forbes Field selling anything from a big orange drink to a bag of peanuts.

Staying with relatives in Pittsburgh during the summer, Don played basketball when he wasn't on duty at Forbes Field.

The 1961-62 season is only at its halfway point, but already Spires has broken the school record, coming up with a 41-point performance against Newell Tuesday. He was voted to the first Class A All-Ohio team last year.

Spires is the quiet type, in fact he's so quiet it almost reaches the point of bashfulness.

After he had broken the school scoring record the other night with 38 seconds still remaining in the third quarter, he passed up numerous scoring opportunities and instead began "feeding" his teammates.

After he reached 41 points, Spires played six minutes in the final quarter, didn't score another point and only took three shots.

WHEN Spires broke Junior Hart's individual scoring mark the other night he at least kept the record in the family. Spires and Hart are cousins.

Speaking of Hart, he was one of Stanton's greatest in both football and basketball, gaining all-state honors in each. Only a guy like Spires could make Irondale fans forget about Hart.

Toughest Sport To Officiate . . .

ASSEMBLE all the games played in the world today and there is none harder to officiate than basketball. It calls for split-second decisions, and many times the official will be wrong. But, fortunately, he is right on a great percentage of his calls.

In the games we have seen this season, fans haven't been too rough on the men on the striped shirts. Last season, in contrast, was probably the worst we have witnessed so far as officials taking severe abuse.

Too many times a coach, school official or fan will say, "The officials let the game get completely out of hand."

An article which appeared in the Ohio High School Athlete was sent to this desk by Jack Call, a local official from Wellsville.

It was entitled "Who Lets The Game Get Out Of Hand?" The question is asked, "Who is held responsible for unsportsmanlike acts on the floor or field?"

On this point the article said that Ohio High School Athletic Association rules are quite clear. "It is the responsibility of the schools and the school representatives to maintain the highest ethics of good attitudes and good sportsmanship. The official can only inflict penalties and, if occasion demands, eject players from the game. However, this authority is not always enough to insure sportsmanlike attitudes.

"As soon as a coach sees one of his players lose his temper or otherwise conduct himself in an unsportsmanlike manner, he should replace this player at the first opportunity. This should be done not only to prevent the possibility of game deterioration but because a player in this state seldom plays good ball and may cause his team to be penalized."

This 'N That In Sports . . .

KENNY Cunningham of East Liverpool, who is fast becoming the darling of the Cincinnati freshman basketball team, came up with his best night scoring-wise Tuesday when he fired in 24 points in Cincy's 68-63 victory over Dayton.

In that game, Cunningham made 11 out of 17 shots as the Bearkittens remained undefeated.

STAN MUSIAL, the baseball great of the St. Louis Cardinals, who usually would receive big money for a banquet appearance, recently paid his own way to the Cumberland (Md.) Dapper Dan Charities Dinner. That included his transportation and even a ticket for the dinner.

South Side Wrestlers Register 4th Victory

It was "pin or no count" for the South Side wrestling team which walked off with a 38-22 victory over the Burgettstown reserves Thursday on the South Side mats.

The Rams, in recording their fourth victory in six starts, turned in five pins, won two by default and one other match ended in a draw on a 13-bout card.

Foul Line Gives Bearcats Edge In 62-54 Victory

This doesn't come under the heading of earthshaking news in college basketball circles, but—the Bradley Braves are whooping it up as if they meant to shake their runnerup role in the Missouri Valley Conference.

That's been said of the Braves in other years, of course. And they still have a way to go before writing a happier ending for themselves this time around. But there's no doubt they're in the driver's seat as of now.

Thursday night the nationally ninth-ranked Braves rapped Drake 77-65, giving them 10 straight victories and running their conference rcord to 4-0. Tulsa upended second-place Wichita 86-77 and defending Missouri Valley champion Cincinnati beat Duquesne 62-54 in a non-league game. Wichita is 4-2 in the conference and Cincinnati is 3-2.

Chet Walker again played a key role for Bradley in the victory at Drake, pumping in 19 first half points in leading Bradley to a 43-34 edge. He ended the evening with 26 points.

Tulsa slipped through, over and around Wichita's heralded zone defense with some clever floor play and fast breaking in its upset of the Wheatshockers.

Third-ranked Cincinnati (13-2) spent most of the night chasing Duquesne's fifth-ranked Dukes (12-2) at Pittsburgh, then capitalized on its chances from the foul line and pulled away in the final 10 minutes. The Dukes had 21 field goals to 10 for the Bearcats, but Cincinnati decided it on foul shooting, 22 to 12. Tom Thacker scored 17 for the 'Cats, Ron Bonham had 15 and Paul Hogue 14.

Gary Marriott's blazing finish pacde fourth-ranked Kansas State (13-2), to a 69-66 Big Eight decision over Missouri. The 6-5 junior fired in the Wildcats' last 14 points.

Utah's Skyline Conference leaders nipped Montana 68-66 on a basket by John Allen with 20 seconds left.

Bobby Jackson hit the clinching basket as Western Kentucky shaded Morehead 80-79 in overtime and took over the Ohio Valley Conference lead.

One Ohio Conference game was played Thursday night. Muskingum strengthened its third - place standing by boosting its record to 6-1 with a 58-54 decision over last-place Kenyon (0-5).

The Muskies had to use a full-court press in the closing minutes to rally from a 10-point deficit before kayoing the fired-up Lords. Muskingum's Bob Mix took the scoring honors with 16 points. Tom Collins topped the Lords with 13.

Jets Fold After Losing $189,000

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Los Angeles Jets, who finished second in the first half of the American Basketball League race, have folded with a loss of $189,000.

The Jet players have been optioned to the league's seven other clubs. The 1,762 stockholders who had bought small blocks of Jet stock will be repaid in full, because the money was impounded under a state corporation commission ruling until the entire issue was sold.

As a late comer to the Los Angeles sports scene, the Jets got less desirable dates and had to buck the very successful Los Angeles Lakers and their two superstars, Elgin Baylor and Jerry West.

The Jets played winning basketball but dropped $149,000 in cash and have $40,000 in debts to be paid, including a season rental of the Olympic Auditorium, where the Jets played their games.

Although they are through for the season, the Jets are retaining title to their optioned players, and they say they hope to resume next year in nearby Long Beach. ABL owners are meeting this weekend, however, to decide what to do about the Los Angeles vacancy.

In the only league game Thursday the Kansas City Steers, first half champions, made it three straight in the second half competition by beating the Chicago Majors 114-97.

Jofre Becomes Brazil's First World Champion

The hammer-fisted little stylist, unbeaten in 44 professional fights, solved the squabble over the 118-pound crown with a 10th round technical knockout of Ireland's Johnny Caldwell Thursday night and became Brazil's first undisputed world champion.

Caldwell, 23, unbeaten in 20 previous fights, held the European version of the title going into the bout before a turn-away crowd of about 20,000 in Ibirapuera Stadium. Jofre claimed recognition in South America and by the United States' National Boxing Association.

Jofre, 25 and a 5-foot-5 slugger who has stopped his last 11 opponents and owns 31 knockouts in his 41-0-3 record, was in control throughout and had the Irishman on the floor twice.

Jofre's vicious left hand put Caldwell down for a nine-count in the 10th of the scheduled 15-rounder.

That sealed it.

Caldwell pulled himself to his feet and Jofre swarmed to the attack. Caldwell staggered back to the ropes.

Jofre smashed home a right to the face and an uppercut to the chin. Caldwell's arms sagged to his sides and he appeared confused and helpless. At this point his manager, Sam Docherty, vaulted through the ropes. That stopped it at 2:45 of the 10th.

Jofre, ahead on the cards of all three judges, previously had Caldwell down for a three-count in the fifth, and opened a cut on his nose in the third and eighth.

Jofre weighed 117½, a half pound less than Caldwell, who had to exercise for almost an hour to make the 118 pound limit.

Balance Pays Off In Royals NBA Victory

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Oscar Robertson, Cincinnati's great scorer, rebounder and defensive stalwart in the National Basketball Association, said today the Royals have improved over last year because the team is "working together more, playing together."

The former Cincinnati University All-America also voiced the opinion that the Royals are better balanced in scoring than the Philadelphia Warriors in the NBA.

Cincinnati, scoring the most points in its history, defeated the Warriors 151-133 as Robertson dumped in 28 points, Wayne Embry 27, Jack Twyman 26 and Arlan Bockhorn 19. In the opener Syracuse beat the Chicago Packers 118-111.

The Royals managed to win by 18 points despite the fact that Wilt Chamberlain of the Warriors went over the 50-point mark for the 28th time this season. Chamberlain scored 54 points.

E. Palestine Nips 'Gators

East Palestine's 34-31 victory over Westgate evened the local team's record at 4-4 for the season Thursday on the East Palestine court.

Westgate trailing, 20-9, at halftime, rallied in the third period to come within five points, 25-20, but couldn't overtake the young Bulldogs.

Hostetter took scoring honors with 14 points while Westgate's Mike Newlen dropped in 10 points and Ron Kinsey added seven.

Spahn May Be Highest Paid Pitcher In Game

By The Associated Press

Baseball's only active 300-game winner—southpaw Warren Spahn—and a right-hander who once was one of the best in the major leagues, have come to terms for this season.

Spahn signed with Milwaukee Thursday for what may make him the highest paid pitcher ever. And Robin Roberts, the once-great right-hander of the Philadelphia Phillies, signed with the New York Yankees.

Spahn last season made about $75,000. He is believed to have received a raise that would make him the game's top wage-earning pitcher.

"We came to terms rather quickly," Braves President John McHale said. Spahn, who will be 41 before the season starts, admitted to being "very happy."

The previous high paid a pitcher was about $80,000 to Bob Feller when he was at the peak of his career with the Cleveland Indians.

Spahn, who won 21 games last season and now has 309 for his career, led the National League with an earned run average of 3.01 last season and also led in complete games. He also pitched the only no-hitter, the second of his extraordinary career.

Roberts, 35, who won 234 games in 14 years with the Phillies, came to the Yankees Oct. 16. The purchase price was believed to have been about $22,000. The American League contract he signed Thursday is believed to call for about $30,000.

He had a 1-10 record last season, by far the worst of his career. "I just didn't have it last season," he said.

Barrage Of 14 Cage Tilts Scheduled In District

The heaviest barrage of basketball games to hit the district this season will begin unfolding tonight. Fourteen tilts are scheduled.

The most important, of course, are those involving undefeated teams — and the district has three.

Midland heads the list with a powerful 14-0 record and goes after its sixth straight Section 8 victory tonight at Riverside, a new consolidated school that joined the Section this season.

RIVERSIDE hasn't won a game yet in Section 8. The big battle for Midland will unfold Wednesday night when Monaca, also carrying a 5-0 record in the league, visits the Leopard floor.

Coach Hank Kuzma's team already has defeated Monaca once. That came in the finals of the Holiday Tournament last month.

STANTON Local will try for its 12th straight and second win of the season at Jefferson Union. The Raiders had an easy time disposing of JU on Jan. 2 at Irondale.

The third member in the undefeated ranks is a fine Crestview outfit coached by Bruce Weber. The Rebels meet Lowellville tonight and carry a streak of 10 straight victories into the game.

Crestview will travel to Salineville Saturday, seeking its second win of the season over the Indians of Al Girone.

EAST Liverpool, working on a 4-3 record, visits twice - beaten Steubenville Central. The game is set for the Diocesan Community arena.

A local rivalry finds Wellsville and Beaver Local hooking up for the second time this season at Beacom Memorial gym. The Tigers walloped Beaver Local earlier in the campaign.

Chester will attempt to get back on the win track after four straight setbacks when Coach Max Tuttle's team entertains Benwood.

In other action, South Side, fresh from a victory Tuesday, plays host to Burgettstown, West Branch visits United and New Cumberland is at home against Bethany.

Coach John Cabas sends his Salem Quakers, ranked eighth in the state this week, after their 10th win in 11 games in a Big 8 contest at Niles.

Jets Fold After Losing $189,000

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Los Angeles Jets, who finished second in the first half of the American Basketball League race, have folded with a loss of $189,000.

The Jet players have been optioned to the league's seven other clubs. The 1,762 stockholders who had bought small blocks of Jet stock will be repaid in full, because the money was impounded under a state corporation commission ruling until the entire issue was sold.

As a late comer to the Los Angeles sports scene, the Jets got less desirable dates and had to buck the very successful Los Angeles Lakers and their two superstars, Elgin Baylor and Jerry West.

The Jets played winning basketball but dropped $149,000 in cash and have $40,000 in debts to be paid, including a season rental of the Olympic Auditorium, where the Jets played their games.

Although they are through for the season, the Jets are retaining title to their optioned players, and they say they hope to resume next year in nearby Long Beach. ABL owners are meeting this weekend, however, to decide what to do about the Los Angeles vacancy.

In the only league game Thursday the Kansas City Steers, first half champions, made it three straight in the second half competition by beating the Chicago Majors 114-97.

Jofre Becomes Brazil's First World Champion

The hammer-fisted little stylist, unbeaten in 44 professional fights, solved the squabble over the 118-pound crown with a 10th round technical knockout of Ireland's Johnny Caldwell Thursday night and became Brazil's first undisputed world champion.

Caldwell, 23, unbeaten in 20 previous fights, held the European version of the title going into the bout before a turn-away crowd of about 20,000 in Ibirapuera Stadium. Jofre claimed recognition in South America and by the United States' National Boxing Association.

Jofre, 25 and a 5-foot-5 slugger who has stopped his last 11 opponents and owns 31 knockouts in his 41-0-3 record, was in control throughout and had the Irishman on the floor twice.

Jofre's vicious left hand put Caldwell down for a nine-count in the 10th of the scheduled 15-rounder.

Caldwell pulled himself to his feet and Jofre swarmed to the attack. Caldwell staggered back to the ropes.

Jofre smashed home a right to the face and an uppercut to the chin. Caldwell's arms sagged to his sides and he appeared confused and helpless. At this point his manager, Sam Docherty, vaulted through the ropes. That stopped it at 2:45 of the 10th.

Jofre, ahead on the cards of all three judges, previously had Caldwell down for a three-count in the fifth, and opened a cut on his nose in the third and eighth.

Jofre weighed 117½, a half pound less than Caldwell, who had to exercise for almost an hour to make the 118 pound limit.

Balance Pays Off In Royals NBA Victory

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Oscar Robertson, Cincinnati's great scorer, rebounder and defensive stalwart in the National Basketball Association, said today the Royals have improved over last year because the team is "working together more, playing together."

The former Cincinnati University All-America also voiced the opinion that the Royals are better balanced in scoring than the Philadelphia Warriors in the NBA.

Cincinnati, scoring the most points in its history, defeated the Warriors 151-133 as Robertson dumped in 28 points, Wayne Embry 27, Jack Twyman 26 and Arlan Bockhorn 19. In the opener Syracuse beat the Chicago Packers 118-111.

The Royals managed to win by 18 points despite the fact that Wilt Chamberlain of the Warriors went over the 50-point mark for the 28th time this season. Chamberlain scored 54 points.

Barrage Of 14 Cage Tilts Scheduled In District

The heaviest barrage of basketball games to hit the district this season will begin unfolding tonight. Fourteen tilts are scheduled.

The most important, of course, are those involving undefeated teams — and the district has three.

Midland heads the list with a powerful 14-0 record and goes after its sixth straight Section 8 victory tonight at Riverside, a new consolidated school that joined the Section this season.

RIVERSIDE hasn't won a game yet in Section 8. The big battle for Midland will unfold Wednesday night when Monaca, also carrying a 5-0 record in the league, visits the Leopard floor.

Coach Hank Kuzma's team already has defeated Monaca once. That came in the finals of the Holiday Tournament last month.

STANTON Local will try for its 12th straight and second win of the season at Jefferson Union. The Raiders had an easy time disposing of JU on Jan. 2 at Irondale.

The third member in the undefeated ranks is a fine Crestview outfit coached by Bruce Weber. The Rebels meet Lowellville tonight and carry a streak of 10 straight victories into the game.

Crestview will travel to Salineville Saturday, seeking its second win of the season over the Indians of Al Girone.

EAST Liverpool, working on a 4-3 record, visits twice - beaten Steubenville Central. The game is set for the Diocesan Community arena.

A local rivalry finds Wellsville and Beaver Local hooking up for the second time this season at Beacom Memorial gym. The Tigers walloped Beaver Local earlier in the campaign.

Chester will attempt to get back on the win track after four straight setbacks when Coach Max Tuttle's team entertains Benwood.

Coach John Cabas sends his Salem Quakers, ranked eighth in the state this week, after their 10th win in 11 games in a Big 8 contest at Niles.

Peanuts, Popcorn, Crackerjack . . .

While the Pittsburgh Pirates were winning the National League Flag in 1960 and while they were not winning it last season, a tall vendor roamed through Forbes Field selling anything from a big orange drink to a bag of peanuts.

Staying with relatives in Pittsburgh during the summer, Don played basketball when he wasn't on duty at Forbes Field.

The 1961-62 season is only at its halfway point, but already Spires has broken the school record, coming up with a 41-point performance against Newell Tuesday. He was voted to the first Class A All-Ohio team last year.

Spires is the quiet type, in fact he's so quiet it almost reaches the point of bashfulness.

After he had broken the school scoring record the other night with 38 seconds still remaining in the third quarter, he passed up numerous scoring opportunities and instead began "feeding" his teammates.

After he reached 41 points, Spires played six minutes in the final quarter, didn't score another point and only took three shots.

WHEN Spires broke Junior Hart's individual scoring mark the other night he at least kept the record in the family. Spires and Hart are cousins.

Speaking of Hart, he was one of Stanton's greatest in both football and basketball, gaining all-state honors in each. Only a guy like Spires could make Irondale fans forget about Hart.

Toughest Sport To Officiate . . .

ASSEMBLE all the games played in the world today and there is none harder to officiate than basketball. It calls for split-second decisions, and many times the official will be wrong. But, fortunately, he is right on a great percentage of his calls.

In the games we have seen this season, fans haven't been too rough on the men on the striped shirts. Last season, in contrast, was probably the worst we have witnessed so far as officials taking severe abuse.

Too many times a coach, school official or fan will say, "The officials let the game get completely out of hand."

An article which appeared in the Ohio High School Athlete was sent to this desk by Jack Call, a local official from Wellsville.

It was entitled "Who Lets The Game Get Out Of Hand?" The question is asked, "Who is held responsible for unsportsmanlike acts on the floor or field?"

On this point the article said that Ohio High School Athletic Association rules are quite clear. "It is the responsibility of the schools and the school representatives to maintain the highest ethics of good attitudes and good sportsmanship. The official can only inflict penalties and, if occasion demands, eject players from the game. However, this authority is not always enough to insure sportsmanlike attitudes.

"As soon as a coach sees one of his players lose his temper or otherwise conduct himself in an unsportsmanlike manner, he should replace this player at the first opportunity. This should be done not only to prevent the possibility of game deterioration but because a player in this state seldom plays good ball and may cause his team to be penalized."

This 'N That In Sports . . .

KENNY Cunningham of East Liverpool, who is fast becoming the darling of the Cincinnati freshman basketball team, came up with his best night scoring-wise Tuesday when he fired in 24 points in Cincy's 68-63 victory over Dayton.

In that game, Cunningham made 11 out of 17 shots as the Bearkittens remained undefeated.

STAN MUSIAL, the baseball great of the St. Louis Cardinals, who usually would receive big money for a banquet appearance, recently paid his own way to the Cumberland (Md.) Dapper Dan Charities Dinner. That included his transportation and even a ticket for the dinner.

South Side Wrestlers Register 4th Victory

It was "pin or no count" for the South Side wrestling team which walked off with a 38-22 victory over the Burgettstown reserves Thursday on the South Side mats.

The Rams, in recording their fourth victory in six starts, turned in five pins, won two by default and one other match ended in a draw on a 13-bout card.

E. Palestine Nips 'Gators

East Palestine's 34-31 victory over Westgate evened the local team's record at 4-4 for the season Thursday on the East Palestine court.

Westgate trailing, 20-9, at halftime, rallied in the third period to come within five points, 25-20, but couldn't overtake the young Bulldogs.

Little Tigers Win 5th

Wellsville's eighth grade team defeated Lisbon 37-18 for its fifth straight victory Wednesday at Lisbon. The powerful Tigers were led by Mick Comparetta's nine points while Bob Stevens added eight.

Spahn May Be Highest Paid Pitcher In Game

By The Associated Press

Baseball's only active 300-game winner—southpaw Warren Spahn—and a right-hander who once was one of the best in the major leagues, have come to terms for this season.

Spahn signed with Milwaukee Thursday for what may make him the highest paid pitcher ever. And Robin Roberts, the once-great right-hander of the Philadelphia Phillies, signed with the New York Yankees.

Spahn last season made about $75,000. He is believed to have received a raise that would make him the game's top wage-earning pitcher.

"We came to terms rather quickly," Braves President John McHale said. Spahn, who will be 41 before the season starts, admitted to being "very happy."

The previous high paid a pitcher was about $80,000 to Bob Feller when he was at the peak of his career with the Cleveland Indians.

Spahn, who won 21 games last season and now has 309 for his career, led the National League with an earned run average of 3.01 last season and also led in complete games. He also pitched the only no-hitter, the second of his extraordinary career.

Roberts, 35, who won 234 games in 14 years with the Phillies, came to the Yankees Oct. 16. The purchase price was believed to have been about $22,000. The American League contract he signed Thursday is believed to call for about $30,000.

He had a 1-10 record last season, by far the worst of his career. "I just didn't have it last season," he said.

3 Tied For Lead In Crosby Event

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Anything can happen and probably will today in the second round of Bing Crosby's $50,,000 golf tournament as the huge field chases two youngsters and a sharp-shooting old timer.

Former national collegiate champions Joe Campbell and Phil Rodgers had the lead to themselves at 67 until Chuck Congdon, 52, came along to equal it and wrap the first round of this 72-hold event in a three-way deadlock.

Rodgers of San Diego, the 1958 NCAA champ while at the University of Houston, continued the spectacular golf that won him the Los Angeles Open by nine strokes two weeks ago. Campbell, the collegiate titlist at Purdue in 1955, fired five birdies in the final nine holes to put himself on the top rung.

Then Congdon, of Tacoma, Wash., who was playing tournament golf before the other co-leaders were born, blazed in with his 67 that included birdie putts of 40, 20 and 18 feet.

Even with their five-under par rounds, the leading trio could count only a one-stroke lead over Jackie Cupit, Bill Casper, Mason Rudolph and Harry Umbinetti, the latter a pro from North Bend, Wash., who was invited by Crosby himself.

Cupit and Rudolph both played at Monterey Peninsula but Casper and Umbinetti played at more rugged Cypress Point. By Saturday night all players will have toured each of the three par 72 courses.

At Cypress Thursday PGA champion Jerry Barber and South Africa's Gary Player were soaring to 79's there while Arnold Palmer had a 76. Jack Nicklaus, the 1961 national amateur champ and now a pro, had a 71.

Defending champion Bob Rosburg shot only a 75, the same as Art Doering who carded a hole-in-one on the 110-yard seventh at Pebble Beach in the first foursome to play it.

Navy Offers Shorter Hitch

The Navy now will accept volunteer three-year first - term enlistments and will permit certain men to re-enlist for two or three years under an experimental program, it was announced today by Chief Shipfitter James M. Pattison, in charge of the Navy Recruiting Office at City Hall.

Formerly first enlistments were for four years or for "minority" —until the man reached 21. Now, first-term Navy men may sign for three- or four-year hitches or for "minority."

In re-enlistment, the former rule provided for four- or six-year terms. Now Navy men will be permitted to sign again for two-, four- and six-year hitches.

The experimental program was placed in operation to meet the increased readiness needs of the Navy, the recruiter explained. It will remain in effect until June 30.

The three-year enlistment program is open to men who have had no prior military training. Under the re-enlistment program, men who have been released from active duty or honorably discharged for more than three months and who can meet the normal eligibility requirements may re-enlist for either two or three years.

An option of up to 30 days advanced leave will be offered men re-enlisting under the provisions. Formerly the "broken service" re-enlistees had only the option of re-enlisting for a period of four or six years with no advance leave.

Joint Housing Of Papers Seen With Advantages

CLEVELAND (AP)—The president of the American Newspaper Publishers Association says joint housing—having rival newspapers share the same physical facilities but compete editorially —has saved many editorial voices.

"The efficiency is always greatly improved," Mark Ferree, ANPA president and executive vice president of Scripps-Howard Newspapers, said Thursday in an interview.

"The advantages of using costly equipment — presses, typesetting machines, delivery trucks and the like—around the clock instead of seven or eight hours a day benefit everyone."

Such a setup, he said, would allow the papers to hire more people eventually and to use more newsprint. He noted a joint housing arrangement usually results nowadays when one paper in town is much stronger than the other.

Ferree, here for a conference Scripps-Howard editors, said his organization has entered joint housing arrangements in Columbus, Ohio; Albuquerque, N.M.; El Paso, Tex.; Evansville, Ind.; Birmingham, Ala., and Pittsburgh.

Governor Hears Of Drawback In Hospital Check

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle liked what he saw during a surprise inspection Thursday of the new $2 million Children's Psychiatric Hospital but apparently not all that he heard.

The hospital, located near the tip of northern Summit County, has facilities for 92 children but only has 28 now, Dr. Loomis said. He said it will not be possible to expand facilities to full capacity before the state legislature meets in 1963.

"Failure to provide money to operate the hospital at full capacity was very extravagant," DiSalle said, adding:

Engineers Local Group Raps Shift Of Meeting Site

CLEVELAND (AP)—A group in the International Union of Operating Engineers Local 18 have charged their union meeting has been moved to a Cincinnati suburb to discourage attendance by opponents of present union leaders.

The 12-man group asked Labor Secretary Arthur Goldberg Thursday to send an investigator to the proposed state meeting in Evendale next Sunday.

In a telegram to the secretary, they also contended the meeting site in Evendale was contrary to union policy, was too small, and was inaccessible for nearly 70 per cent of the 11,000 members in Ohio.

The protesting members, largely from Northern Ohio, said the me ing was called to work out procedures for a union election in June. They said it was the first time in 25 years Local 18 leaders would be opposed in balloting. Some of the protest group will be candidates.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Sports celebrities from all parts of the country, and all branches of athletics, will be honored tonight at the Columbus Touchdown Club's seventh annual awards banquet.

They range from home - towner Jerry Lucas, Ohio State's All-America basketball star, to Don Harper, former Olympic diving champion, who flew in from France for the affair.

Home run king Roger Maris of the Yankees, Coach Murray Warmath of Minnesota's Rose Bowl champs, No. 1 footballers Paul Hornung of Green Bay and Ernie Davis of Syracuse, pitchers Warren Spahn and Whitey Ford, and boxing's Gene Fullmer are among the top-flighters.

Rep. Harsha Due Action Against Red Propaganda

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. William H. Harsha, R-Ohio, said today he will try to amend the pending postal rate increase bill "to prevent the free delivery of Communist propaganda by the Post Office Department."

"One of the reasons the postal deficit is so large is the free delivery of this Red propaganda which enters this country by the tons," said Harsha, 6th District congressman from Portsmouth.

"It is inconceivable to ask the American taxpayer to subsidize the delivery of this material designed to destroy our freedom and our country."

Ohio Industrial Schools Filled To Capacity Again

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's industrial schools are filled to capacity again, only a short time after the Ohio Supreme Court thawed a freeze on admissions ordered by Gov. Michael V. DiSalle.

Juvenile Research Chief John Ferguson said 68 youths between the ages of 10 and 17 have been admitted to the state schools at Delaware and Lancaster since the Supreme Court decision Jan. 3.

"This rate is similar to that of pre-quota days before Gov. DiSalle ordered a freeze on admissions to curb an increasing school population," Ferguson said.

He said of the new committments, 43 are headed for the Boys Industrial School at Lancaster, which already has a population of 523, and 25 are slated for the Girls Industrial School at Delaware.

Ferguson said, in order to make room for the girls' institution, which is filled ot its capacity of 220, eight girls were returned to their homes ahead of schedule.

Thursday the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction asked the Supreme Court to reconsider its Jan. 3 decision because of the limited facilities available. The court, in making its ruling, said it was the clear duty of the state to accept wards committed after juvenile court hearings.

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. has made what it believes is the largest tire ever seen on earth—16 feet in diameter. It is designed to carry the United States' first lunar vehicle for an exploration on the moon, the company announced Thursday.

Boston Tops Detroit, 6-4

BOSTON (AP) — Goalie Bruce Gamble, making a triumphant return to the Boston nets, has been greeted by an ultimatum from Coach Phil Watson — lose 15 pounds in 10 days.

Recalled from the Portland, Ore., farm club, Gamble helped the last place Bruins hand Detroit a 5-3 National Hockey League defeat Thursday night although Red Wing wonder Gordie Howe scored goal No. 20.

"Gamble played a fine game out there, but he's going to play even better," Watson said about his chunky goal guardian who made his major league debut just a year ago by beating Detroit 6-4.

"He weights 215 pounds and he's got a time limit to reach 200," Watson added. "I don't care how he does it."

In addition to aiding a rare Boston triumph (10th in 43 games), Gamble also spoiled Detroit's chance to vault over idle New York in the NHL's fourth spot.

Barber Wins Honor As 'Putter-Of-Year'

CHICAGO (AP) — Golf's "putter-of-the-year is Jerry Barber, the small 45-year-old pro who tamed the big guys in the 1961 National PGA meet with a heavily leaded 18-ounce putter he has carried for 13 years.

Barber, who came off a farm near Jacksonville, Ill., to carve a spot for himself in the golf ranks, collected 13 of the 17 votes for the putting honor cast by officers and directors of the Golf Writers Association of America.

The third annual award, announced Thursday, previously had gone to pro Art Wall and amateur Deane Beman.

Barber had a phenomenal putting streak in the PGA at Olympia Fields near Chicago last summer. On the final three holes of the regulation tournament he sank successive putts of 20, 40 and 60 feet to tie Don January and force an 18-hole playoff which he won.

New Coach Of Bills Expresses Optimism

"We have a fine nucleus," said Saban Thursday after being hired to succeed Garrard (Buster) Ramsey, who was fired two weeks ago after two losing seasons.

Owner Says Packers Have Lost $150,000

CHICAGO (AP) — Owner Dave Trager says his new entry in the National Basketball Association, the Chicago Packers, lost $150,000 in the first half of the season.

Trager blamed the loss on a losing team, bad weather and a schedule which had the Packers making only 12 home appearances in the International Amphitheatre.

"I feel certain things will get better in the second half of the season," he said.

Syracuse Owner Denies Shifting To Cleveland

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Dan Biasone, owner of the Syracuse club in the National Basketball Association, said Thursday night there was no truth to a report that he was considering moving the franchise to Cleveland.

Biasone said his meeting in Cleveland Wednesday with George Steinbrenner, president of the Cleveland Pipers of the American Basketball League, and Ralph Wilson, who owns the Buffalo club in the American Football League, actually was a chance encounter in the airport terminal.

"I never met Wilson before and I wouldn't even recognize him if I saw him again," Biasone told a newsman in an interview. Biasone said he was heading for a telephone booth in the terminal when Steinbrenner hailed him and introduced him to Wilson.

Biasone said Steinbrenner had been coaxing him for some time to move the NBA club to Cleveland, but "I just didn't pay any attention to him. He certainly isn't going to persuade me."

3 Tied For Lead In Crosby Event

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Anything can happen and probably will today in the second round of Bing Crosby's $50,000 golf tournament as the huge field chases two youngsters and a sharp-shooting old timer.

Former national collegiate champions Joe Campbell and Phil Rodgers had the lead to themselves at 67 until Chuck Congdon, 52, came along to equal it and wrap the first round of this 72-hold event in a three-way deadlock.

All three fired over the Monterey Peninsula Country Club course. Today they tee off at Pebble Beach, a layout considered two to three strokes tougher.

Rodgers of San Diego, the 1958 NCAA champ while at the University of Houston, continued the spectacular golf that won him the Los Angeles Open by nine strokes two weeks ago. Campbell, the collegiate titlist at Purdue in 1955, fired five birdies in the final nine holes to put himself on the top rung.

Then Congdon, of Tacoma, Wash., who was playing tournament golf before the other co-leaders were born, blazed in with his 67 that included birdie putts of 40, 20 and 18 feet.

Even with their five-under par rounds, the leading trio could count only a one-stroke lead over Jackie Cupit, Bill Casper, Mason Rudolph and Harry Umbinetti, the latter a pro from North Bend, Wash., who was invited by Crosby himself.

Cupit and Rudolph both played at Monterey Peninsula but Casper and Umbinetti played at more rugged Cypress Point. By Saturday night all players will have toured each of the three par 72 courses.

At Cypress Thursday PGA champion Jerry Barber and South Africa's Gary Player were soaring to 79's there while Arnold Palmer had a 76. Jack Nicklaus, the 1961 national amateur champ and now a pro, had a 71.

Defending champion Bob Rosburg shot only a 75, the same as Art Doering who carded a hole-in-one on the 110-yard seventh at Pebble Beach in the first foursome to play it.

The Olympic Fund picks up the profits.

Rep. Harsha Due Action Against Red Propaganda

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. William H. Harsha, R-Ohio, said today he will try to amend the pending postal rate increase bill "to prevent the free delivery of Communist propaganda by the Post Office Department."

House debate is expected to begin next week on the measure.

"One of the reasons the postal deficit is so large is the free delivery of this Red propaganda which enters this country by the tons," said Harsha, 6th District congressman from Portsmouth.

"It is inconceivable to ask the American taxpayer to subsidize the delivery of this material designed to destroy our freedom and our country."

Harsha added, "If this free delivery were stopped, the Post Office Department would not need rate increases in first class mail."

Ohio Industrial Schools Filled To Capacity Again

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's industrial schools are filled to capacity again, only a short time after the Ohio Supreme Court thawed a freeze on admissions ordered by Gov. Michael V. DiSalle.

Juvenile Research Chief John Ferguson said 68 youths between the ages of 10 and 17 have been admitted to the state schools at Delaware and Lancaster since the Supreme Court decision Jan. 3.

"This rate is similar to that of pre-quota days before Gov. DiSalle ordered a freeze on admissions to curb an increasing school population," Ferguson said.

He said of the new committments, 43 are headed for the Boys Industrial School at Lancaster, which already has a population of 523, and 25 are slated for the Girls Industrial School at Delaware.

Ferguson said, in order to make room for the girls' institution, which is filled ot its capacity of 220, eight girls were returned to their homes ahead of schedule.

Thursday the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction asked the Supreme Court to reconsider its Jan. 3 decision because of the limited facilities available. The court, in making its ruling, said it was the clear duty of the state to accept wards committed after juvenile court hearings.

Navy Offers Shorter Hitch

The Navy now will accept volunteer three-year first - term enlistments and will permit certain men to re-enlist for two or three years under an experimental program, it was announced today by Chief Shipfitter James M. Pattison, in charge of the Navy Recruiting Office at City Hall.

Formerly first enlistments were for four years or for "minority" —until the man reached 21. Now, first-term Navy men may sign for three- or four-year hitches or for "minority."

In re-enlistment, the former rule provided for four- or six-year terms. Now Navy men will be permitted to sign again for two-, four- and six-year hitches.

The experimental program was placed in operation to meet the increased readiness needs of the Navy, the recruiter explained. It will remain in effect until June 30.

The three-year enlistment program is open to men who have had no prior military training. Under the re-enlistment program, men who have been released from active duty or honorably discharged for more than three months and who can meet the normal eligibility requirements may re-enlist for either two or three years.

An option of up to 30 days advanced leave will be offered men re-enlisting under the provisions. Formerly the "broken service" re-enlistees had only the option of re-enlisting for a period of four or six years with no advance leave.

Joint Housing Of Papers Seen With Advantages

CLEVELAND (AP)—The president of the American Newspaper Publishers Association says joint housing—having rival newspapers share the same physical facilities but compete editorially—has saved many editorial voices.

"The efficiency is always greatly improved," Mark Ferree, ANPA president and executive vice president of Scripps-Howard Newspapers, said Thursday in an interview.

"The advantages of using costly equipment — presses, typesetting machines, delivery trucks and the like—around the clock instead of seven or eight hours a day benefit everyone."

Such a setup, he said, would allow the papers to hire more people eventually and to use more newsprint. He noted a joint housing arrangement usually results nowadays when one paper in town is much stronger than the other.

Ferree, here for a conference Scripps-Howard editors, said his organization has entered joint housing arrangements in Columbus, Ohio; Albuquerque, N.M.; El Paso, Tex.; Evansville, Ind.; Birmingham, Ala., and Pittsburgh.

Governor Hears Of Drawback In Hospital Check

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle liked what he saw during a surprise inspection Thursday of the new $2 million Children's Psychiatric Hospital but apparently not all that he heard.

The hospital, located near the tip of northern Summit County, has facilities for 92 children but only has 28 now, Dr. Loomis said. He said it will not be possible to expand facilities to full capacity before the state legislature meets in 1963.

"Failure to provide money to operate the hospital at full capacity was very extravagant," DiSalle said, adding:

Engineers Local Group Raps Shift Of Meeting Site

CLEVELAND (AP)—A group in the International Union of Operating Engineers Local 18 have charged their union meeting has been moved to a Cincinnati suburb to discourage attendance by opponents of present union leaders.

The 12-man group asked Labor Secretary Arthur Goldberg Thursday to send an investigator to the proposed state meeting in Evendale next Sunday.

In a telegram to the secretary, they also contended the meeting site in Evendale was contrary to union policy, was too small, and was inaccessible for nearly 70 per cent of the 11,000 members in Ohio.

The protesting members, largely from Northern Ohio, said the meeting was called to work out procedures for a union election in June. They said it was the first time in 25 years Local 18 leaders would be opposed in balloting. Some of the protest group will be candidates.

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. has made what it believes is the largest tire ever seen on earth—16 feet in diameter. It is designed to carry the United States' first lunar vehicle for an exploration on the moon, the company announced Thursday.

Boston Tops Detroit, 6-4

BOSTON (AP) — Goalie Bruce Gamble, making a triumphant return to the Boston nets, has been greeted by an ultimatum from Coach Phil Watson — lose 15 pounds in 10 days.

Recalled from the Portland, Ore., farm club, Gamble helped the last place Bruins hand Detroit a 5-3 National Hockey League defeat Thursday night although Red Wing wonder Gordie Howe scored goal No. 20.

"Gamble played a fine game out there, but he's going to play even better," Watson said about his chunky goal guardian who made his major league debut just a year ago by beating Detroit 6-4.

"He weights 215 pounds and he's got a time limit to reach 200," Watson added. "I don't care how he does it."

In addition to aiding a rare Boston triumph (10th in 43 games), Gamble also spoiled Detroit's chance to vault over idle New York in the NHL's fourth spot.

Barber Wins Honor As 'Putter-Of-Year'

CHICAGO (AP) — Golf's "putter-of-the-year is Jerry Barber, the small 45-year-old pro who tamed the big guys in the 1961 National PGA meet with a heavily leaded 18-ounce putter he has carried for 13 years.

Barber, who came off a farm near Jacksonville, Ill., to carve a spot for himself in the golf ranks, collected 13 of the 17 votes for the putting honor cast by officers and directors of the Golf Writers Association of America.

The third annual award, announced Thursday, previously had gone to pro Art Wall and amateur Deane Beman.

Barber had a phenomenal putting streak in the PGA at Olympia Fields near Chicago last summer. On the final three holes of the regulation tournament he sank successive putts of 20, 40 and 60 feet to tie Don January and force an 18-hole playoff which he won.

New Coach Of Bills Expresses Optimism

"We have a fine nucleus," said Saban Thursday after being hired to succeed Garrard (Buster) Ramsey, who was fired two weeks ago after two losing seasons.

Saban, who had been the Bill's director of player personnel after the AFL Boston Patriots fired him as head coach before midseason last year, described his task as "a case of improving players like our good rookies from last year."

Owner Says Packers Have Lost $150,000

CHICAGO (AP) — Owner Dave Trager says his new entry in the National Basketball Association, the Chicago Packers, lost $150,000 in the first half of the season.

Trager blamed the loss on a losing team, bad weather and a schedule which had the Packers making only 12 home appearances in the International Amphitheatre.

"I feel certain things will get better in the second half of the season," he said.

Syracuse Owner Denies Shifting To Cleveland

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Dan Biasone, owner of the Syracuse club in the National Basketball Association, said Thursday night there was no truth to a report that he was considering moving the franchise to Cleveland.

Biasone said his meeting in Cleveland Wednesday with George Steinbrenner, president of the Cleveland Pipers of the American Basketball League, and Ralph Wilson, who owns the Buffalo club in the American Football League, actually was a chance encounter in the airport terminal.

"I never met Wilson before and I wouldn't even recognize him if I saw him again," Biasone told a newsman in an interview. Biasone said he was heading for a telephone booth in the terminal when Steinbrenner hailed him and introduced him to Wilson.

Biasone said Steinbrenner had been coaxing him for some time to move the NBA club to Cleveland, but "I just didn't pay any attention to him. He certainly isn't going to persuade me."

HAL HUMPHREY

Comedians, Stick To Thy Laughs

Something should be done about finding a serum for comedians infected with the acting bug. Both Groucho Marx and Jack Benny fell prey to it this month, two sicker-looking funny men you've never seen.

Hal Humphrey

IN ONE SCENE, when told his daughter was getting married without his permission, Groucho reared back and stared into the camera. It was what might be called a nostril shot. If there was a director on this show, he must have been out to lunch every time Groucho had a scene.

Maybe I'm doing Groucho an injustice. He could have been rearing back like that after having smelled the script. Where he goofed was not running for the nearest exit.

"Just remember," warned the stern father, "that one and one don't always make two— sometimes they make three."

FOR A SECOND I thought Groucho was back on his old quiz show. That line was funnier than, "Who is buried in Grant's Tomb?"

At the end of this drippy drama Groucho had saved his daughter from marrying too young, but he hadn't saved her from a trauma which could scare her for life — getting her name in the cast.

Groucho was grinning at the finale, but I don't think it was happiness. He must have been in a state of shock himself.

EARLIER this month Jack Benny had a similar accident. He played a comedian (without jokes) in a "Checkmate" episode. Of course, Jack's production company owns the "Checkmate" series, so he may consider this a legitimate excuse for appearing here.

He still needs an alibi, however, for allowing himself to get run over with a script that not even Alfred Hitchcock could have saved. Jack was supposed to be marked for murder, but it turned out that the would-be assassin really had his camera trained on a big business tycoon (the assassin worked with a gun concealed in a camera, honest!).

Jack played it just the way he would in his Sunday comedy show, except here there were no laughs. Jack needs laughs like Peter Lorre needs a cadaver to carve on. Without them he is just a nice guy who can't act.

THERE ARE comedians who can act. Jackie Gleason is probably at the top of the list. Red Skelton and Red Buttons know how to turn on the dramatics. Bob Hope and Jerry Lewis are only fair at it but do most of their acting in the framework of the comedy character they have built through the years.

You will notice that the best comedian-actors are those who don't always play themselves. Gleason, Buttons, Skelton, Ed Wynn, Sid Caesar, Danny Thomas and Phil Silvers have created and played various comedy characters, and this requires genuine acting ability.

Groucho, Benny, Milton Berle, George Gobel and Eddie Cantor play themselves as comics. After years of doing it, they naturally find it difficult to submerge this character and play someone else.

THE LATE Ernie Kovacs was developing into a fine actor. He had a Milquetoast character bit similar to Gleason's that was just as hilarious.

Berle is trying the acting lately, and although he still has some trouble submerging Berle, he's much more successful at it than Benny or Groucho. He may make it.

Meanwhile, nobody can do Benny or Groucho, and these are two marvelous characters. So will you please cut out this trying to be Marlon Brando? It hurts too much to watch you!

Kennedy Budget To Expand Work At Research Site

CLEVELAND (AP) — A rapid rate of expansion is on tap for Cleveland's Lewis Research Center and its operations at Plum Brook near Sandusky, according to President Kennedy's fiscal 1963 budget.

The major items disclosed in the budget Thursday for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration facilities were:

—Hiring of an additional 800 persons at the Center here and 100 more at Plum Brook. This is in addition to the 615 to be hired by this June 30.

Most Indices Show Decline Here In 1961

Four of 14 indices showed higher levels in 1961 than in 1960, but the other 10 were off. In a comparison of December and November activity, four indices showed increases from the preceding month.

Carloadings totaled 3,050 in 1961 against 2,994 in 1960, a rise of 1.9 per cent. December showed 344 outbound shipments, down 17.1 per cent from November's 415.

River shipments also showed gains last year. District dams locked through 5,497 tons last year, a gain of 3.6 per cent from the 5,306 shown in 1960. The dams handled 449 tons in December, a drop of 4.3 per cent from November's 469.

The 1961 river traffic represented 16,788,500 tons of cargo, a boost of 14.7 per cent from the 14,636,250 reported in 1960. December's shipments represented 1,592,550 tons, a gain of 2.6 per cent from November's 1,635,000 tons.

A boost also was shown in the city's parking meter revenue. It totaled $63,299 in 1961, up 4.3 per cent from the $60,672 listed in 1960. December collections totaled $6,911, an increase of 52.2 per cent from the $4,540 shown in November.

Employment at 12 district industrial plants averaged 3,839 monthly in 1961, off 7.3 per cent from the average of 4,142 shown in 1960. The plants had 3,658 on the job in December, down 1.8 per cent from November's 3,725.

Payrolls at the same plants totaled $13,918,908 in 1961, down 11.5 per cent from the $15,721,233 they paid out in 1960. The payrolls were $1,082,685 in December, off 7.5 per cent from the $1,170,786 shown in November.

There was a big surge in sales tax receipts in December, the result of Christmas gift - buying. The receipts last month hit $68,718, up 26.8 per cent from the $54,209 shown in November. The sales tax collections totaled $504,670 in 1961, down 14.2 per cent from the $588,094 shown in 1960.

A rise in the city's relief case load reflected the drop in job opportunities. The case load averaged 113 monthly in 1961, up 43 per cent from the average of 79 shown in 1960. It totaled 92 in December, up 11.5 per cent from the 104 listed in November.

New car registrations in Columbiana County hit 2,960 in 1961, off 24.9 per cent from the 3,943 shown in 1960. They totaled 248 in December, down 18.7 per cent from the 305 shown in November.

Used car sales totaled 8,506 in 1961, down 13.1 per cent from the 9,893 shown in 1960. They hit 690 in December, off 4.2 per cent from November's 720.

Inbound railroad carloadings totaled 2,395 in 1961, down 15.8 per cent from the 2,843 shown in 1960. They totaled 199 in December, off 0.05 per cent from the 200 listed in November.

Postal receipts stood at $269,027 in 1961, off 0.02 per cent from the $269,526 listed in 1960. They hit $30,962 in December, down 31.2 per cent from November's $45,059.

Bank debits averaged $22,627,984 monthly in 1961, off 1.3 per cent from the $22,943,124 average shown in 1960. They totaled $25,316,772 in December, a gain of 3.5 per cent from the $24,458,349 shown in November.

Bank clearings totaled $37,047,619 in 1961, off 7.7 per cent from the $40,132,881 listed for 1960. They totaled $3,346,676 in December, a gain of 2.3 per cent from the $3,270,201 shown in November.

Blue Cross Unit Strongly Favors Aged Care Plan

CLEVELAND (AP)—Blue Cross of Northeast Ohio is strongly in favor of a new medical-surgical care program for persons 65 and over as proposed by the American Medical Association and the National Association of Blue Shield Plans.

The proposal is "the most important step taken in the past 30 years for the voluntary financing of health care," John R. Mannix said Thursday. He is executive vice president of Blue Cross of Northeast Ohio.

The new program would enable Blue Cross and Blue Shield plans to join in a really comprehensive program of hospital and medical benefits for the aged at a reasonable cost, Mannix said.

The AMA-Blue Shield proposal, disclosed in Chicago Wednesday, would cost about $3 a month a person. It would cover the full cost of medical and surgical services for aged single persons with incomes of not more than $2,500 and for couples with incomes of not more than $4,000 a year.

The AMA, Blue Shield and Blue Cross are opposed to the Kennedy administration's proposals to finance medical care for the aged through Social Security.

County Assigned 15 For February Draft

Columbiana County has been assigned a quota of 15 for the February draft, for which the State Selective Service has called 407 for induction. Jefferson County's quota is 11.

The total call for January was 1,309 men. The total call for February last year was 566.

Basic 5-Hour Day Won By Electricians

NEW YORK (AP)— The city's $1.25-billion-a-year construction industry was booming again today after an eight-day strike by union electricians who won a basic five-hour day.

Contractors Thursday shut down the bulk of the work under way in the city.

The strike involving 9,000 electricians was settled Thursday night and men in all construction crafts were called back to work today.

An overwhelming majority of 1,000 members who were at a dinner of the Building Trades Employers Association booed loudly when the settlement was announced.

H. Earl Fullilove, board chairman of the association, later gave an estimate—a "guess at best"—that half of the city's 200,000 construction workers had been laid off for the one day. The employers promised them the day's pay.

Chiefs of the city's Central Labor Council, representing AFL-CIO unions, congratulated Local 3 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers on winning a five-hour day.

The council said in a telegram to the local: "This victory will have profound influence on national thinking on automation and full employment. Only the shorter work week can end joblessness of millions of our fellow citizens, and your victory is certain to lead to immediate and successful attempts to cut the work week so that we may achieve a full employment conomy."

The council said its shorter work week and automation committee has called on all affiliated unions to make the shorter week part of their demands in every contract negotiation.

The electricians, who had a basic six-hour day in their old contract, will continue to work overtime under the strike settlement because of the shortage of skilled electricians.

Harry Van Arsdale Jr., business manager of Local 3 which was demanding a four-hour on a five-day week when it struck, has said the insistence on shorter hours in the contract was sought as a protection against future unemployment which might result from introduction of new machines and techniques.

The electricians will lose $3.80 a week in regular wages under the new 30-month agreement that goes into effect July 1, despite a wage raise of 56 cents an hour.

Under their old contract with 600 electrical contractors, they worked six hours a day at $4.40 an hour and a seventh hour time and a half, which was $6.60. This amounted to $165 for a 35-hour week.

Under the new agreement, they will work five hours a day at $4.96 an hour and a sixth hour at time and a half, or $7.44. The total for a 30-hour week will be $161.20.

Out Of The Air

HAL HUMPHREY

Comedians, Stick To Thy Laughs

Something should be done about finding a serum for comedians infected with the acting bug. Both Groucho Marx and Jack Benny fell prey to it this month, two sicker-looking funny men you've never seen.

Hal Humphrey

Not only do Groucho and Jack have trouble reading straight lines, but their usually fine judgment of material takes a holiday when they choose a dramatic script. Groucho got smeared the worst in a sudsy soap opera for "Theater."

For expressions of anger and sadness he simply stared into the camera. In fact that was his stock reaction to everything that took place.

IN ONE SCENE, when told his daughter was getting married without his permission, Groucho reared back and stared into the camera. It was what might be called a nostril shot. If there was a director on this show, he must have been out to lunch every time Groucho had a scene.

Maybe I'm doing Groucho an injustice. He could have been rearing back like that after having smelled the script. Where he goofed was not running for the nearest exit.

"Just remember," warned the stern father, "that one and one don't always make two— sometimes they make three."

FOR A SECOND I thought Groucho was back on his old quiz show. That line was funnier than, "Who is buried in Grant's Tomb?"

At the end of this drippy drama Groucho had saved his daughter from marrying too young, but he hadn't saved her from a trauma which could scare her for life — getting her name in the cast.

Groucho was grinning at the finale, but I don't think it was happiness. He must have been in a state of shock himself.

EARLIER this month Jack Benny had a similar accident. He played a comedian (without jokes) in a "Checkmate" episode. Of course, Jack's production company owns the "Checkmate" series, so he may consider this a legitimate excuse for appearing here.

He still needs an alibi, however, for allowing himself to get run over with a script that not even Alfred Hitchcock could have saved. Jack was supposed to be marked for murder, but it turned out that the would-be assassin really had his camera trained on a big business tycoon (the assassin worked with a gun concealed in a camera, honest!).

Jack played it just the way he would in his Sunday comedy show, except here there were no laughs. Jack needs laughs like Peter Lorre needs a cadaver to carve on. Without them he is just a nice guy who can't act.

THERE ARE comedians who can act. Jackie Gleason is probably at the top of the list. Red Skelton and Red Buttons know how to turn on the dramatics. Bob Hope and Jerry Lewis are only fair at it but do most of their acting in the framework of the comedy character they have built through the years.

You will notice that the best comedian-actors are those who don't always play themselves. Gleason, Buttons, Skelton, Ed Wynn, Sid Caesar, Danny Thomas and Phil Silvers have created and played various comedy characters, and this requires genuine acting ability.

Groucho, Benny, Milton Berle, George Gobel and Eddie Cantor play themselves as comics. After years of doing it, they naturally find it difficult to submerge this character and play someone else.

THE LATE Ernie Kovacs was developing into a fine actor. He had a Milquetoast character bit similar to Gleason's that was just as hilarious.

Berle is trying the acting lately, and although he still has some trouble submerging Berle, he's much more successful at it than Benny or Groucho. He may make it.

Meanwhile, nobody can do Benny or Groucho, and these are two marvelous characters. So will you please cut out this trying to be Marlon Brando? It hurts too much to watch you!

Kennedy Budget To Expand Work At Research Site

CLEVELAND (AP) — A rapid rate of expansion is on tap for Cleveland's Lewis Research Center and its operations at Plum Brook near Sandusky, according to President Kennedy's fiscal 1963 budget.

The major items disclosed in the budget Thursday for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration facilities were:

—More than $26 million for a space environment test chamber for nuclear rocket systems, to be built at Plum Brook.

—About $8 million for a new high-energy fuels testing laboratory and office building at the Cleveland Hopkins Airport Center.

—Hiring of an additional 800 persons at the Center here and 100 more at Plum Brook. This is in addition to the 615 to be hired by this June 30.

—Expanding the space nuclear propulsion office staff — a joint agency of NASA and the Atomic Energy Commission—from 27 this year to 50 by next year.

Most Indices Show Decline Here In 1961

Despite a year-end surge in some lines, most East Liverpool district business and industrial indices wound up 1961 at levels below 1960, it was shown today in a summary issued by the Chamber of Commerce.

Four of 14 indices showed higher levels in 1961 than in 1960, but the other 10 were off. In a comparison of December and November activity, four indices showed increases from the preceding month.

Carloadings totaled 3,050 in 1961 against 2,994 in 1960, a rise of 1.9 per cent. December showed 344 outbound shipments, down 17.1 per cent from November's 415.

River shipments also showed gains last year. District dams locked through 5,497 tons last year, a gain of 3.6 per cent from the 5,306 shown in 1960. The dams handled 449 tons in December, a drop of 4.3 per cent from November's 469.

The 1961 river traffic represented 16,788,500 tons of cargo, a boost of 14.7 per cent from the 14,636,250 reported in 1960. December's shipments represented 1,592,550 tons, a gain of 2.6 per cent from November's 1,635,000 tons.

A boost also was shown in the city's parking meter revenue. It totaled $63,299 in 1961, up 4.3 per cent from the $60,672 listed in 1960. December collections totaled $6,911, an increase of 52.2 per cent from the $4,540 shown in November.

Employment at 12 district industrial plants averaged 3,839 monthly in 1961, off 7.3 per cent from the average of 4,142 shown in 1960. The plants had 3,658 on the job in December, down 1.8 per cent from November's 3,725.

Payrolls at the same plants totaled $13,918,908 in 1961, down 11.5 per cent from the $15,721,233 they paid out in 1960. The payrolls were $1,082,685 in December, off 7.5 per cent from the $1,170,786 shown in November.

There was a big surge in sales tax receipts in December, the result of Christmas gift - buying. The receipts last month hit $68,718, up 26.8 per cent from the $54,209 shown in November. The sales tax collections totaled $504,670 in 1961, down 14.2 per cent from the $588,094 shown in 1960.

A rise in the city's relief case load reflected the drop in job opportunities. The case load averaged 113 monthly in 1961, up 43 per cent from the average of 79 shown in 1960. It totaled 92 in December, up 11.5 per cent from the 104 listed in November.

New car registrations in Columbiana County hit 2,960 in 1961, off 24.9 per cent from the 3,943 shown in 1960. They totaled 248 in December, down 18.7 per cent from the 305 shown in November.

Used car sales totaled 8,506 in 1961, down 13.1 per cent from the 9,893 shown in 1960. They hit 690 in December, off 4.2 per cent from November's 720.

Inbound railroad carloadings totaled 2,395 in 1961, down 15.8 per cent from the 2,843 shown in 1960. They totaled 199 in December, off 0.05 per cent from the 200 listed in November.

Postal receipts stood at $269,027 in 1961, off 0.02 per cent from the $269,526 listed in 1960. They hit $30,962 in December, down 31.2 per cent from November's $45,059.

Bank debits averaged $22,627,984 monthly in 1961, off 1.3 per cent from the $22,943,124 average shown in 1960. They totaled $25,316,772 in December, a gain of 3.5 per cent from the $24,458,349 shown in November.

Bank clearings totaled $37,047,619 in 1961, off 7.7 per cent from the $40,132,881 listed for 1960. They totaled $3,346,676 in December, a gain of 2.3 per cent from the $3,[illegible]701 shown in November.

County Assigned 15 For February Draft

Columbiana County has been assigned a quota of 15 for the February draft, for which the State Selective Service has called 407 for induction. Jefferson County's quota is 11.

The youngest man who may be inducted in this call must be at least 22 on or before Feb. 1, unless he is a volunteer.

The total call for January was 1,309 men. The total call for February last year was 566.

Blue Cross Unit Strongly Favors Aged Care Plan

CLEVELAND (AP)—Blue Cross of Northeast Ohio is strongly in favor of a new medical-surgical care program for persons 65 and over as proposed by the American Medical Association and the National Association of Blue Shield Plans.

The proposal is "the most important step taken in the past 30 years for the voluntary financing of health care," John R. Mannix said Thursday. He is executive vice president of Blue Cross of Northeast Ohio.

The new program would enable Blue Cross and Blue Shield plans to join in a really comprehensive program of hospital and medical benefits for the aged at a reasonable cost, Mannix said.

The AMA-Blue Shield proposal, disclosed in Chicago Wednesday, would cost about $3 a month a person. It would cover the full cost of medical and surgical services for aged single persons with incomes of not more than $2,500 and for couples with incomes of not more than $4,000 a year.

The AMA, Blue Shield and Blue Cross are opposed to the Kennedy administration's proposals to finance medical care for the aged through Social Security.

Basic 5-Hour Day Won By Electricians

NEW YORK (AP)— The city's $1.25-billion-a-year construction industry was booming again today after an eight-day strike by union electricians who won a basic five-hour day.

Contractors Thursday shut down the bulk of the work under way in the city.

The strike involving 9,000 electricians was settled Thursday night and men in all construction crafts were called back to work today.

An overwhelming majority of 1,000 members who were at a dinner of the Building Trades Employers Association booed loudly when the settlement was announced.

H. Earl Fullilove, board chairman of the association, later gave an estimate—a "guess at best"—that half of the city's 200,000 construction workers had been laid off for the one day. The employers promised them the day's pay.

Chiefs of the city's Central Labor Council, representing AFL-CIO unions, congratulated Local 3 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers on winning a five-hour day.

The council said in a telegram to the local: "This victory will have profound influence on national thinking on automation and full employment. Only the shorter work week can end joblessness of millions of our fellow citizens, and your victory is certain to lead to immediate and successful attempts to cut the work week so that we may achieve a full employment conomy."

The council said its shorter work week and automation committee has called on all affiliated unions to make the shorter week part of their demands in every contract negotiation.

The electricians, who had a basic six-hour day in their old contract, will continue to work overtime under the strike settlement because of the shortage of skilled electricians.

Harry Van Arsdale Jr., business manager of Local 3 which was demanding a four-hour on a five-day week when it struck, has said the insistence on shorter hours in the contract was sought as a protection against future unemployment which might result from introduction of new machines and techniques.

The electricians will lose $3.80 a week in regular wages under the new 30-month agreement that goes into effect July 1, despite a wage raise of 56 cents an hour.

Under their old contract with 600 electrical contractors, they worked six hours a day at $4.40 an hour and a sixth hour at time and a half, or $7.44. The total for a 30-hour week will be $161.20.

This amounted to $165 for a 35-hour week.

Under the new agreement, they will work five hours a day at $4.96 an hour and a sixth hour at time and a half, or $7.44. The total for a 30-hour week will be $161.20.

WHERE WILL THE MONEY COME FROM?

One thing, far more than any other, keeps families from owning the sort of home they really want. That is the old bug-a-boo . . . MONEY. It is true, of course, that money is needed to purchase any property. What some folks don't realize is: MUCH of that money need not be theirs!
We have a number of sources for mortgage funds. Some owners will take back a second mortgage as part payment. Others may accept your present home in trade. There ARE ways to buy a home, even if your ready cash is limited. You should know about them. It may be possible for you to have a nice home sooner than you dreamed possible. Maybe even now! We'll be glad to help you with financing . . . or any other problem that stands in the way of your "home happiness."

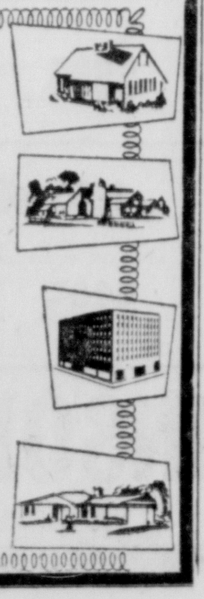
WHERE WILL THE MONEY COME FROM?



One thing, far more than any other, keeps families from owning the sort of home they really want. That is the old bug-a-boo . . . MONEY. It is true, of course, that money is needed to purchase any property. What some folks don't realize is: MUCH of that money need not be theirs!
We have a number of sources for mortgage funds. Some owners will take back a second mortgage as part payment. Others may accept your present home

Junior Editors Quiz on SWANS

QUESTION: Is it true that swans are ugly when they are babies?

ANSWER: The swan is a stately bird, with his snowy white feathers and long, graceful neck. Poets and writers, in fact, have chosen him as the very symbol of majesty. It's hard to imagine him as an awkward, stumbling, unattractive fellow—but that's just what he was when he was first born. Anyone who loves nature, however, would find it hard to call a baby swan ugly. Fortunately, baby swans (called cygnets) lose their grayish-brown feathers during the first year of their lives and become white and proud and handsome.

There are seven different kinds of swans in various parts of the world. The one we see most frequently in parks and zoos is the mute swan, a European bird said never to use its voice while in captivity. But the whistling swan, which nests around the Arctic Ocean and Hudson Bay region, makes a loud noise ranging from deep notes to shrill tones. There used to be many more than there are now, and between October and April they would fly in V-shaped flocks as far south as the Carolinas, whistling noisily. The whistling swan is a little less than five feet long and is white except for a yellow spot between the nostrils and eyes, black legs, feet and bill. The trumpeter swan, like the whistling swan except larger, is seen even less frequently nowadays. The male swan is called a cob, the female a pen.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: The great storyteller, Hans Christian Andersen, wrote a charming fable called "The Ugly Duckling," which will entertain you as well as instruct you. Read it, and find out what the embarrassing little "duckling" turned out to be.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: You did millions of young Americans an injustice when you pontificated in a recent column that children should not be spanked.

As a retired general in the United States Army I have had vast experience with young men. We could tell within a week which boys had been reared with discipline.

A strap, when folded, soundly applied to the posterior and thighs, never did a child any harm.

Many a volunteer is alive today because of the discipline instilled in him, not by the Army, Navy or the Marines but by a stern parent.

I hope no one will take your advice and spare the rod, Ann. The next generation has enough trouble in store without being a pack of spoiled brats to boot.—RETIRED GENERAL.

Dear One Star: How did a man who can't read acquire your rank?

I clearly stated that I am not opposed to spanking but I take sharp issue with you when you advocate the use of a "folded" belt. No child should receive a blow harder than the human hand can deliver—and nature supplied the ideal spot.

Okay, general, two days of KP for you — and don't leave the base for 48 hours.

Home Away

Dear Ann: Our 22 - year - old daughter will be graduated from college soon. She has obtained a teaching position in this city and wishes to share an apartment with her college roommate.

My husband and I don't know what to say. We feel it is not respectable for a young woman to live in a rented apartment when her parents are in the same city and have two spare bedrooms.

Frankly, we are concerned with our daughter's morals. May we have your views?—PARENTS OF D.

Dear Parents: It's perfectly respectable for a college graduate, 22, who is self-supporting, to have her own apartment, even though her parents live in the same city.

The mature girl wishes to be independent. A 22-year-old who lives at home could conceivably find independence virtually impossible.

Allergic To Rena

Dear Ann: My husband's older brother passed away five years ago. His widow remarried.

Rena wants to be included in our family get-togethers as always. Of course she brings her new husband along. My husband says it kills him to see her with this guy. He gets a gall bladder attack every time the two of them show up.

Rena is well liked by all members of the family and it doesn't bother anyone else. What shall I do?—BETWEEN FIRES.

Dear Between: If the sight of Rena and her second mate gives your husband a gall bladder attack, don't invite them to your home. Since you seem to like the woman, however, see her during the afternoon.

If the other members of the family wish to include Rena and her husband you should make no attempt to discourage them. Apparently your husband is the only one whose perspective is out of joint.

Confidentially

TO MARRIED TO A SKUNK: You don't sound like much of a bargain yourself, Sweet Pea. Quit using your children as weapons of war and ask a clergyman to sit down with both of you and your husband and establish some decent ground rules.

-:-

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Driver Wounded During Holdup Of Cleveland Bus

CLEVELAND (AP)—A city bus driver was shot Thursday night during a holdup staged by three masked gunmen. They also robbed the passengers on the bus at Lakeview Road NE and Parklawn Avenue, police reported.

Police said they believe the same trio earlier in the evening held up another bus driver and a supermarket.

The wounded bus driver, John Rudd, 54, of suburban Lakewood, was shot in the shoulder as five women passengers looked on. The gunman took $62 from Rudd and $7 from the passengers.

A short time before, Mark G. Davis, 61, of Cleveland, the other bus driver, was robbed of $51 by three gunmen at the Lakeview loop. His bus was empty.

Police said three gunmen invaded a supermarket on the East Side at 8:30 p.m., cleaned out the cash register, and fled with the wallets of the owner and three customers.

Enters Plea Of Guilt

DEFIANCE, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. Irene Imber, 54, pleaded guilty to a charge of embezzling $2,376.12 from Defiance Water Department while she was a secretary there. She was given a suspended sentence of 1-20 years and fined $5,000 Thursday.

Jail Detention Given Youths

Four area youths were given detention in the County Jail after hearings held Thursday before Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin on charges of auto thefts and burglaries.

Two 17 and one 15 were sentenced to a month and each is to pay $200 as restitution and damages in burglaries and car thefts. When released from the jail, they will be turned over to the County Welfare Department for placement, and must observe a 5 p. m. curfew and attend church.

The fourth, a 17-year-old, placed in detention for three weeks, must pay $150 in restitution. He will also be placed with the welfare department, with curfew and church attendance required. He was not involved in the auto thefts but involved in burglaries in Westgate school and the Memorial Auditorium.

The youths admitted six auto thefts and burglaries at the Litten Motors Sales, Arb Motors, the Beaver Local School and at the auditorium and at Westgate and East Junior High.

The burglaries and thefts were cleared up when East Liverpool police put out a stolen car report Saturday. Sheriff's deputies apprehended the car and a 15-year-old boy, who confessed and implicated the other youths.

Columbus Attorney Seeks High Court Post

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Hugh A. Sherer, Columbus attorney, has taken out petitions to enter the race for the six-year term to the Ohio Supreme Court now held by Judge Thomas J. Herbert.

Sherer, a Republican, declared his candidacy about 24 hours after Herbert declared himself a non-candidate for re-election to the term which commences next Jan. 2. He joins Willard D. Campbell, former Guernsey County prosecutor, state senator and common pleas court judge, as a candidate.

Sherer served in the state attorney general's office under two Republican and two Democratic attorneys general.

Judge Dismisses One Of 5 Counts In Bribery Trial

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—A judge has dismissed one of five charges against Frank Cickelli at the Trumbull County Democratic chairman's bribery trial in connection with a $4.5 million sewer project scandal.

Common Pleas Court Judge George H. Birrell dropped the charge—intimidating a witness — because he said the state offered no proof of the origin of a telephone call in which Cickelli allegedly tried to influence the grand jury testimony of a contractor. The contractor was Rocco Ferrera of Livonia, Mich.

Another contractor, Alphonso Monzo of Monroeville, Pa., switched sides and testified for the defense Thursday. Earlier he had been a witness for the state in the trial of ex-councilman Raymond J. Little, now serving a 1-10-year term in Ohio Penitentiary.
